Northeast of Las Vegas, Nevada's Gold Butte region is a vital habitat for endangered and rare species like desert tortoises, kit foxes and burrowing owls -- but without increased protections we could lose this ecosystem to illegal and extremely destructive cattle grazing.

The time has come to protect Nevada's Gold Butte region as a national monument. »

For the past 20 years the Bureau of Land Management has allowed illegal and extremely destructive cattle grazing in the region, and it isn't about to stop it unless we demand increased regulation and enforcement.

This level of mismanagement must end. Join me in urging President Barack Obama and Interior Secretary Salazar to protect our endangered wildlife and designate Gold Butte as a national monument.»
