The Klamath Tribes Complete Negotiations on Proposed Upper Klamath Basin Comprehensive Agreement

Chiloquin, OR — The Klamath Tribes announced today the completion of nearly eight months of negotiations with Upper Klamath Basin stakeholders on the Proposed Upper Klamath Basin Comprehensive Agreement, and support of the Proposed Agreement by The Klamath Tribal Council. Tribal negotiators, with the assistance of the Native American Rights Fund (NARF), worked non-stop to develop innovative solutions to resolve water and natural resource management issues in the Upper Klamath Basin. The settlement efforts, which began in July 2013, were initiated via the Klamath Basin Task Force convened by Oregon Senators Ron Wyden and Jeff Merkley, Congressman Greg Walden, and Governor John Kitzhaber. The Proposed Agreement now goes to Tribal members for their consideration by referendum vote, and to irrigators for their endorsement.

Klamath Tribal Chairman Don Gentry commended the work of the Tribes' Negotiation Team. "I want to express my gratitude to the Tribes' Team. They showed great fortitude throughout the process." Gentry further added, "And I am very pleased with the Klamath Tribal Council's decision to support the Proposed Agreement and send this out to a referendum vote of the Tribal membership. We look forward to sharing the terms of the agreement with our community in the days to come.”

Vice-Chairwoman Vivian Kimbol expressed her support for the Proposed Agreement, stating “We are on the verge of bringing significant change that will continue the healing of the Basin for all involved. At the end of the day any agreement needed to be balanced and recognize the needs of our members and treaty protected resources, which I think we accomplished.”

The Proposed Agreement includes three key programs:

- A Water Use Program that will increase stream flows in the tributaries above Upper Klamath Lake – adding at least 30,000 acre-feet annually to inflows to the lake, while creating a stable, predictable setting for agriculture to continue in the Upper Klamath Basin;
- A Riparian Program that will improve and protect riparian conditions to help restore Tribal fisheries; and
- An Economic Development Program for the Klamath Tribes.

The Proposed Agreement also provides for four public access sites for Tribal members’ exercise of Tribal Treaty fishing rights. The Agreement adds to, and facilitates implementation of, the Klamath Basin Restoration Agreement and Klamath Hydroelectric Settlement Agreement, which were approved by the Tribes in 2010 and amended in 2012.

NARF has represented the Klamath Tribes for more than 40 years on treaty resource matters and since 1976 on the Klamath Basin Adjudication, which confirmed the Tribes’ time immemorial priority date water rights and led to enforcement of the water rights for the first time ever during the 2013 irrigation season. “When we consider all of the pieces together, the confirmation of the Tribes’ water rights in the Adjudication, the Klamath Basin Restoration Agreement, the Klamath Hydroelectric Settlement Agreement and now the Upper Basin Comprehensive Agreement, the Tribes have built a solid foundation to continue the restoration of the tribal fisheries and their economy” said David Gover, NARF staff attorney.

The full Agreement as well as a summary of the Agreement are available on the Web at: <http://www.oregon.gov/gov/GNRO/Pages/index.aspx>

THE WHITE HOUSE Office of the First Lady FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FIRST LADY MICHELLE OBAMA AND EPICURIUS HOST THIRD RECIPE CHALLENGE TO PROMOTE HEALTHY EATING NATIONWIDE

“The Healthy Lunchtime Challenge” Welcomes Children and Their Parents to Create Healthy Lunch Recipes for an Invite to the Kids’ “State Dinner” at the White House

Recipes can be submitted through April 5th at recipechallenge.epicurious.com

WASHINGTON, DC – With the overwhelming success of the Healthy Lunchtime Challenge & Kids’ “State Dinner” in 2012 and 2013, First Lady Michelle Obama is again teaming up with Epicurious, the U.S. Department of Education, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture to host a nationwide recipe challenge to promote cooking and healthy eating among America’s youth. Teaching kids to cook is a great way to ensure our children learn healthy habits early in life. Research shows that children who help with cooking and meal preparation are more likely to consume fruits and vegetables, and they are more aware of the importance of making healthier food choices. The third annual Healthy Lunchtime Challenge & Kids' "State Dinner" encourages kids across the country to come up with healthy, original creations.

"The Kids' 'State Dinner' is one of my favorite events to host at the White House, and I am thrilled to announce the third annual Healthy Lunchtime Challenge. This event gives us the opportunity to showcase healthy creations from talented kids from across our country," said First Lady Michelle Obama. "I'm looking forward to seeing—and tasting—this year's selections. So young chefs, get creative and get cooking!"

The third Healthy Lunchtime Challenge & Kids' "State Dinner" invites parents or guardians and their children, ages 8-12, to create and submit an original lunch recipe that is healthy, affordable, and tasty. In support of the First Lady's Let's Move! initiative, each recipe must adhere to the guidance that supports USDA's MyPlate (at ChooseMyPlate.gov) to ensure that the criteria of a healthy meal are met. Entries must represent each of the food groups, either in one dish or as parts of a lunch meal, including fruits, vegetables, whole grains, lean proteins and low-fat dairy foods, with fruits and veggies making up roughly half of the plate or recipe.

All U.S. states and territories, including Washington, D.C., Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and the Northern Mariana Islands, are invited to participate. Delta Air Lines will fly fifty-six children and their parent/guardian (one pair from each of the 50 states, plus the U.S. Territories, D.C., and Puerto Rico) to the nation's capital where they will have the opportunity to attend a Kids' "State Dinner" at the White House hosted by Mrs. Obama. A selection of the winning healthy recipes will be served.

"The Healthy Lunchtime Challenge is a wonderful opportunity to help kids build healthy habits. First Lady Michelle Obama, through the Let's Move! Initiative, offers another shining example of how we can mobilize public and private sector resources to improve the lives of our children," said Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack. "The decisions parents make to keep their kids healthy often start with the meals made at home. Young people who participate in this Challenge and are inspired by MyPlate encourage other children to eat healthier and build food preparation skills that will influence their food decisions into adulthood."

"We are truly honored that Mrs. Obama is once again partnering with Epicurious to help raise awareness for the importance of healthy eating for kids," said Carolyn Kremins, Senior Vice President and General Manager of Epicurious. "We hope the Healthy Lunchtime Challenge can show kids that meals, especially their school lunch, can be tasty, healthy and fun to prepare."

The winning recipes will be chosen by a panel of judges, including Nilou Motamed, Tanya Steel, Let's Move! Executive Director Sam Kass, U.S. Department of Agriculture and U.S. Department of Education representatives, as well as junior chefs. At the conclusion of the Kids' "State Dinner," a free, downloadable and printable e-cookbook featuring the winning recipes, nutritional analysis, photos and drawings, will be available via LetsMove.gov, USDA.gov, Ed.gov, epicurious.com and recipechallenge.epicurious.com.

The White House Kids' "State Dinner" will take place later this summer.

Recipes can be submitted March 5th through April 5th, online at recipecallenge.epicurious.com, or via mail at "The Healthy Lunchtime Challenge c/o Epicurious.com," 1166 Avenue of the Americas, 15th Floor, New York, NY 10036. Winners will be notified in May. For more information and contest rules visit recipecallenge.epicurious.com.

Tell us your Nevada favorites. Whether it's in Northern, Southern, or Rural Nevada, you decide which are the best. Results will be published in the July/August 2014 issue of Nevada Magazine and on nevadamagazine.com before July 1. Click here to vote. Voting April 18th.

"I would like to quote a very prejudicial doctrine that was handed down by the Supreme Court in 1823. It said that the Indian Nations do not have title to their lands because they weren't Christians. That the first Christian Nations to discover an area of heathen lands has the absolute title. This doctrine should be withdrawn and renounced to establish a new basis for relationship between indigenous peoples and other peoples of the world."
