Geoff Ellis

Now, from impoverished reservations in the West, to Congress and the White House in the East, there is a growing bipartisan movement to document and address the lack of resources and opportunities in Native communities.

The proposed commission makes no promises regarding broken treaties and makes no legislative commitments. The last Congress passed only 22 out of 122 bills and resolutions related to Indian affairs, so it's unlikely that this legislation will be able to break through the partisan gridlock. Nonetheless, lawmakers and stakeholders from all political backgrounds are hopeful.

Support for Workers' Rights Efforts

General Service Foundation: Human Rights and Economic Justice

The General Service Foundation dedicates its resources to bringing about a more just and sustainable world. The Foundation's Human Rights and Economic Justice program supports efforts that protect, promote, and create good jobs with living wages for workers, including low-wage workers, in the United States and Mexico so that people on both sides of the border can live and work in dignity. The program seeks to strengthen worker voices, promote public policies that protect labor rights, and democratize corporate power and promote corporate accountability. Priority is given to organizations that address needs identified by the underrepresented and low-income communities that are directly impacted, and that connect local and national level work.

The upcoming deadline for letters of inquiry is September 1, 2015. Visit the Foundation's website to learn more about the program and to submit an online letter of inquiry.

Economic Literacy Initiatives Funded

Calvin K. Kazanjian Economics Foundation

The Calvin K. Kazanjian Economics Foundation is dedicated to the goal of increasing economic literacy throughout the United States. The Foundation provides grants to programs with national impact that address the following issues: raising the public's participation in economic education and creating a demand for greater economic literacy; encouraging measurement of economic understanding; developing the application of new strategies for teaching economics, including online and web-based instruction; and helping disenfranchised youth or young adults with children learn to participate in the economic system. Requests from nonprofit organizations and educational institutions are reviewed two times per year; the upcoming application deadline is September 15, 2015. Visit the Foundation's website to review the application guidelines.

Grants Address Social Issues Worldwide

Ford Foundation

The goals of the Ford Foundation are to strengthen democratic values, reduce poverty and injustice, promote international cooperation, and advance human achievement. The Foundation provides grants to nonprofit organizations worldwide that address the following social justice issues: Educational Opportunity and Scholarships; Democratic and Accountable Government; Economic Fairness; Freedom of Expression; Human Rights; Sustainable Development; Gender, Sexuality, and Reproductive Justice; and Metropolitan Opportunity. When assessing grant applications, the Foundation looks for long-term strategies, knowing that lasting social change requires decades of effort. Nonprofit organizations and international non-governmental organizations may submit online grant inquiries at any time. Visit the Foundation's website to learn more about the specific initiatives listed under each of the issues and for more information about the grant application process.

Childhood Obesity Prevention Programs Supported

Children's Obesity Fund

The Children's Obesity Fund seeks to educate parents, teachers, and other caregivers about the rising obesity rates in America, reverse the statistics and dangerous trends, and help prevent the next generation from continuing down this alarmingly unhealthy road. Support is provided to nonprofit organizations throughout the United States that share the Fund's goal of eliminating the epidemic of childhood obesity. The focus is on increasing awareness and understanding of how to raise healthy and happy children and make sure that ensuing generations are strong and live vital, active lives. Grant requests are reviewed throughout the year. Visit the Fund's website to submit an online application form.

The mission of the Telligen Community Initiative (TCI) is to support innovative and forward looking health-related projects aimed at improving health, social well-being, and educational attainment. Grants are provided to nonprofit organizations, educational institutions, and government agencies serving communities in Iowa, Illinois, and Oklahoma. TCI's funding priorities include the following: Health Innovation, Health for the Underserved, and Healthcare Workforce Development. The deadline for applicants in the states of Iowa and Illinois is August 4, 2015. (The deadline for Oklahoma applicants as a new state of focus for TCI was earlier in 2015.) Visit the TCI website to learn more about the funding priorities and application procedure.

Grants Promote Environmental Causes in the Southeast

Merck Family Fund

One of the Merck Family Fund's goals is to restore and protect the natural environment and ensure a healthy planet for generations to come. The Fund provides grants to nonprofit organizations that address one of the following four program areas: The Reducing CO2 Emissions Through Energy Efficiency and Carbon Pricing program supports the development of political and economic drivers at the federal and state level in the Northeast and Southeast to establish or expand carbon pricing mechanisms. The Conserving Ecologically Valuable Land program provides grants for land conservation efforts in the Southeast. The Urban Farming and Youth Leadership program supports initiatives in low-income urban areas in the Northeast that help young people to create urban farms and local markets. The Making Paper Production Sustainable program seeks to increase the rates of recycled paper in large paper sectors, reduce sourcing from endangered forests, and maximize clean production nationwide. Letters of inquiry may be submitted throughout the year. The upcoming deadline for invited proposals is August 3, 2015. Visit the Fund's website to learn more about the program areas.

Support for Health Care Initiatives in Idaho, Oregon, Washington, and Utah

Cambia Health Foundation

The Cambia Health Foundation is dedicated to creating a more person-focused and economically sustainable health care system. The Foundation provides support to nonprofit organizations serving the residents of Idaho, Oregon, Washington, or Utah that address one of the following three program areas: Transforming Health Care, Children's Health, or Sojourns (palliative and end-of-life care). Requests are reviewed three times per year. The final 2015 deadline for letters of inquiry is August 14. Visit the Foundation's website to learn more about the guidelines for each program area. Application details are available on the Grant Application Center page.

Funny how the environmentalists were right about the Glen Canyon Dam and Lake [F]owell, while industry, landowners, local, state, and federal governments were wrong. # California Partners for Permanency/Tribal Policy Facilitates Tribal/Community Public Listening Sessions

The California Department of Social Services is respectfully offering Tribal communities in each region (Central, Northern, Southern, Bay Area), the opportunity to share their needs, desires, and/or thoughts regarding SB1460, legislation that went into effect on January 1, 2015, that is designed to help Tribes keep their children in their community.

SB1460 gives CA Federally Recognized Tribes the authority to enter in agreement with the Department of Justice to obtain authorization to receive background check information for purposes of foster, adoptive, or relative foster home approval. This means that Tribes can conduct both the home assessment and background check without needing the assistance of county child welfare agencies and ideally, keep their children within their community when removals from parents or guardians must occur. Tribes can also designate third parties entities (whomever approves their foster homes), to do so.

CDSS is seeking host locations to house as many community members/stakeholders as possible in each region of California. The location would need to have the capability to present a Power Point presentation, a microphone, and chairs for community members. We hope that it will benefit the community by giving the community a voice, and will also stand as a gesture of partnership. Unfortunately, we do not have funding to cover the cost of meeting space, but may be able to provide coffee, water, and snacks. We look forward to meeting with you and hearing the community voice regarding the implementation of this statute.

* Tribal needs shared that are unrelated to SB1460 will be given to the appropriate state staff person in the California Department of Social Services for consideration in their policies and programs, and advocated for.

If you need further information, please contact Vevila at (916) 651-9712. Thank you kindly for your time and consideration.

Warmly,

Vevila Hussey, MSW
