

Journal #3511 from sdc 11.24.15

Angelina Jolie Refuses to Celebrate Thanksgiving, Feels It's a 'Story of Murder'

National Native American Heritage Month Timeline/Facts and Figures

Make a Playhouse From Cardboard

Support-strengthens-to-stop-oil-and-gas-development-to-keep-florida-s-everglades-wild

The Legend of Elvis Old Bull

Greenhouse Kits

Defend Joshua Tree From Massive Dewatering

10-maps-which-will-change-how-you-view-world-0?

Towering, Teeming Hong Kong - Where the Buffalo Roam

Q&A: A look at the Colorado River and its role in the West

3 Ways You Can Advocate for History

Common Weed May Be Fuel Of The Future

Mesa Southwest Museum

Fairytale That Covers Betrayal/Genocide: Why Schools Need to Stop Spreading Thanksgiving Myth

www.Ya-Native

Mesa Community College - "Hokam"

In Memory of Rosalie Little Thunder

Angelina Jolie Refuses to Celebrate

Thanksgiving, Feels It's a 'Story of Murder'

Read Story - Watch Video Here ==> <http://bit.ly/I-Dont-Celebrate-Thanksgiving-Its-A-Story-of-Murder-Angelina-Jolie>

*We are at "that week".....with many interpretations, heritage and observation.
Journal will reflect such. sdc*

from HUD:

National Native American Heritage Month Timeline

National Native American Heritage Month Facts & Figures

Make a Playhouse From Cardboard

Toys have overtaken my family's apartment-the six different versions of Iron Man crammed into the action-figure drawer, the piles of doll clothes and stuffed animals on the floor, the lidless bucket of Perler beads perched on the edge of the coffee table.

Kids need to play, but do they need all the junk we buy them? According to researchers at UCLA, the United States is home to 3.1 percent of the world's children, but Americans buy 40 percent of the world's toys. Most toys contain a complex mix of plastics, making them difficult to recycle when they break. So all these playthings just clutter up our houses and landfills.

Maybe I should follow the example of two German researchers who removed all the toys from a preschool for three months. At first the children wandered around aimlessly, but by the second day, they had made a tent out of tables, chairs, and blankets and were inventing games.

I don't want to purge completely, but I would like my kids to make do with less, or maybe just make more with materials we have on hand. I found some oversize boxes and got out art supplies, and then we spent a Saturday turning them into playhouses. We cut out windows and doors and decorated the walls with some leftover wrapping paper. Now it's playtime.

Check out our slideshow and make your own!

CSS:

interesting article on opposition to bike path across everglades which some feel may be a stealthy means for industry to gain more access and/or infrastructure rights of way-pipelines etc

<http://www.truth-out.org/news/item/33725-support-strengthens-to-stop-oil-and-gas-development-to-keep-florida-s-everglades-wild>

The Legend of Elvis Old Bull | VICE Sports

The Magic Johnson of Montana rezball died last month in a car accident, but the stories of his greatness will endure.
sports.vice.com

<http://geodesic-greenhouse-kits.com/winter-special-fully-loaded>

Defend Joshua Tree From Massive Dewatering

Home to desert tortoises, bighorn sheep and numerous rare and imperiled plants, Southern California's Joshua Tree National Park is a... action.biologicaldiversity.org http://www.iflscience.com/environment/10-maps-which-will-change-how-you-view-world-0?utm_source=pocket&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=pockethits

<http://www.truth-out.org/opinion/item/33751-spectacles-of-black-death-and-white-impunity>

Towering, Teeming Hong Kong - Where the Buffalo Roam

By MICHAEL FORSYTHE

Most of Hong Kong is not an urban jungle, but rather a real one, bristling with monkeys, pythons and boars - and a lot of feral cattle.

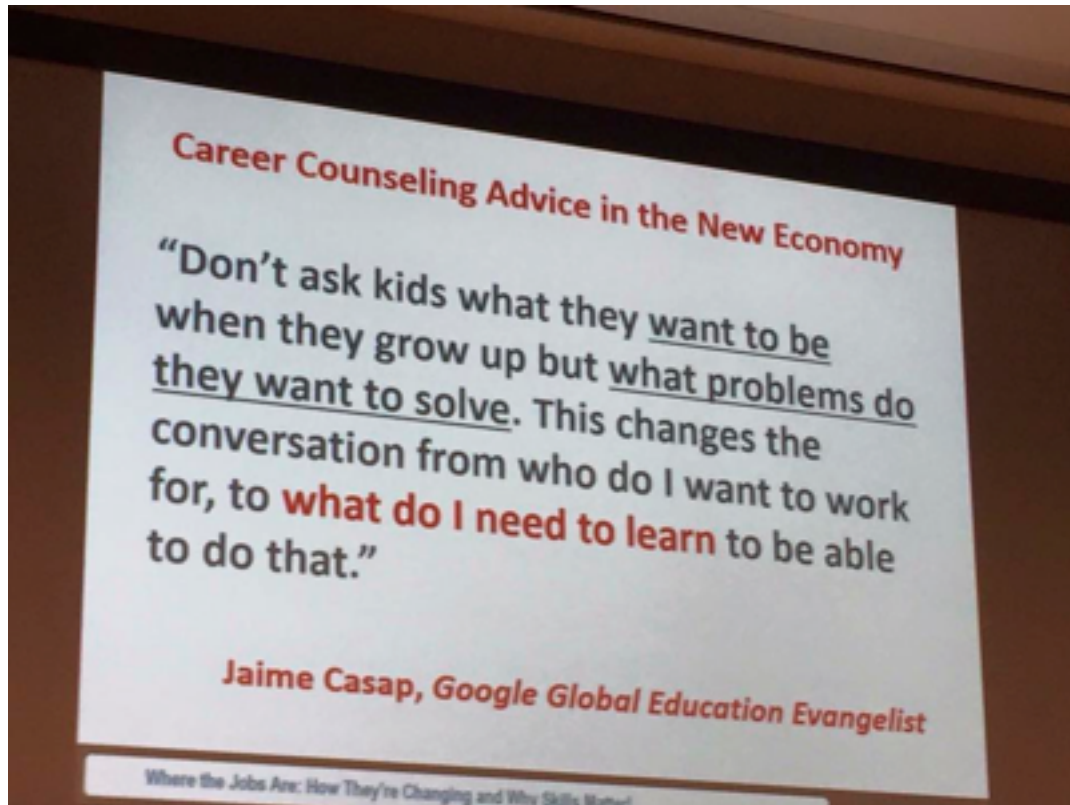

Q&A: A look at the Colorado River and its role in the West

Capital press

Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, the nation's largest drinking water distributor, bought nearly 13,000 acres of remote farms in July for $256 ...

In Washington, teenagers take a state agency to court over carbon emissions — and win

CLAYTON ALDERN

http://

grist.org/living/spoof-captures-how-advertisers-approach-millennials-and-consumerism/?utm_medium=email&utm_source=newsletter&utm_campaign=daily-horizon http://grist.org/business-technology/each-piece-of-garbage-has-a-story-this-artist-traces-it/?utm_medium=email&utm_source=newsletter&utm_campaign=daily-horizon

From the American Association for State and Local History: 3 Ways You Can Advocate for History

We are always working to keep history a priority. Will you join us?

Caucus for History:

Contact your Representative (today, by email!) and ask them to join the Congressional History Caucus. It was founded by Congressmen John Larson (D-CT), Tom Cole (R-OK), Ander

Crenshaw (R-FL) and Bill Pascrell (D-NJ) with the help of the National Coalition for History, a group which includes the AASLH. At 19 House members and growing, the goal is to build lasting relationships with history organizations, historians, archivists, teachers, students, genealogists, researchers, and others in their respective districts. Please write or call your House member's office and urge them to contact Congressman John Larson's office at (202) 225-2265. Learn more about the Caucus.

Get Your Organization to Sign the Value of History Statement:

You've been hearing about the History Relevance Campaign (HRC), and now is the moment to add your endorsement to its Value of History statement. It is a clear articulation of why history is relevant and essential in modern life. Discussing and referring back to the statement is already inspiring a national conversation about the important work that history organizations do. Wording from the statement is being used in grant proposals, in conversations with elected officials, and with governing boards. AASLH has made history relevance one of its key focal points and has been supporting the HRC since its inception. Over 90 national, state, and local groups have signed, and yours can be next.

Go to MAD:

Sign up for AAM's Museums Advocacy Day (MAD) in Washington, DC, in February and help make a unified case to Congress about the importance of history museums. Read more and register here. Please note that as an AASLH member—because AASLH is a Partner supporter of the MAD—you may register for free by using this code: “MAD2016_AASLH”. AAM staff will provide policy briefings and schedule meetings for you on Capitol Hill. And you won't be alone. The AASLH Council holds its winter meeting in conjunction with MAD each year so staff and Council can participate in Advocacy Day.

EAGLE WINGS ANNUAL AFTER THANKSGIVING FUNDRAISER

2015 NATIVE AMERICAN

ARTS & CRAFTS FAIR

Friday—Nov 27 & Saturday—Nov 28

Daily 10am—6pm

Reno-Sparks Indian Colony

Tribal Gymnasium

OVER 40 VENDORS SELLING BEADWORK, ARTWORK, BASKETRY, ETC.

FUNDRAISING RAFFLE.....DELICIOUS INDIAN TACOS + OTHER SNACKS

SPECIAL SATURDAY PERFORMANCES BY THE

EAGLE WINGS DANCE GROUP @ 2PM & 4PM

NON-PERISHABLE FOOD DRIVE—PLEASE DONATE AT LEAST ONE ITEM

Vendor spaces still available. $60—2 days/$30—1 day plus one (1) raffle item donation.

Payment must be received prior to event. Money orders only, NO personal checks.

Make money orders out to the "RSIC Eagle Wings Dance Group" noting it is for vendor fees

Vendors must bring their own tables/chairs. Set up begins at 9am each morning.

For more info, please call Janice Gardipe at (775) 329-6114 or Lois Kane at (775) 425-3804.

Mesa Southwest Museum 53 N. MacDonald Mesa, AZ 85201-7325
Tel: 480-644-2230 Website: <http://www.ci.mesa.az.us/parksrec/msm/msmdefault.htm>
Map

Collects, preserves, and exhibits the natural and cultural prehistory and history of Arizona and the Southwest. Presents permanent and changing exhibits, fields archaeological research teams, houses research collections, sponsors traveling exhibits, and offers educational activities for children.

Permanent exhibits include a dinosaur gallery, a gem and mineral hall, a meteorite display, and an “Arizona movies” exhibit.

Collections include archival materials; lithics and ceramics from Arizona and other Southwestern Native populations; Southwestern art collections; faunal remains; and mineral samples.

Museum has more than 40,000 square feet of space, some of which is located in the 1937 city services building.

Extensive collection of ethnographic, archaeological, historical, mineralogical, and faunal material.

Ethnology Collections. Artifacts from Southwestern populations, with a particular emphasis on Arizona populations. Collections focus on the Akimel O’Odham (Pima), Apache, Cases Grandes, Hopi, Navaho, Piipash (Maricopa), Tarahumara, Tohono O’Odham (Papago), Yaqui, and Zuni cultures.

Archaeological collections. Ceramics, lithics, jewelry from local populations. Documents, photographs and maps from excavations. Specific populations include the Anasazi, Mimbres, Salado, and Hohokam.

History Collections. Documents, maps, photographs, oral histories, and artifacts relating to Mesa’s Euro-American history. Specific topics include the Spanish colonial presence in the area; the area's pioneers; the Mesa Police Department; the Mesa Parks and Recreation Department; Williams Air Force Base; Falcon Field; and World War II Japanese internment camps.

Fairytale That Covers Betrayal and Genocide: Why Schools Need to Stop Spreading Thanksgiving Myth

It's time to embrace truth.
indiancountrytodaymedianetwork.com

10th Anniversary Cedar Band of Paiutes Thanksgiving Powwow

November 27th-28th, 2015

G.E. Friday 7:00 p.m. | Saturday 12:00 p.m. & 6:00 p.m.

PITU Gymnasium

440 N. Paiute Dr. Cedar City, Utah

M.C.:

Tyson Shay
Ft. Hall, Idaho

A.D.:

Monty Williams
Fallon, Nevada

NORTHERN HOST DRUM:

Medicine Thunder
Ft. Hall, Idaho

SOUTHERN HOST DRUM:

Southern Mountain Intertribal
Towaag, Colorado

SPIRITUAL LEADER:

Bob Taylor
Taylorsville, Utah

P.A.:

Herb McCabe
Las Vegas, Nevada

2014-2015 PRINCESS:

Mikayla Wauneka

HEAD MAN HEAD LADY
PICK PER SESSION

PRINCESS CONTEST

Tiny Tots Special 1st & 2nd Place
Elder Women Traditional Special
Princess Special (Jingle Dress)

Miss Kassidee Cling & Miss Raelynn Yellowhorse
Dressed in full Regalia to participate.

All girls ages 3-6 old.

Must be registered Friday night

1st & 2nd Place Winners: Jacket, Trophy & Cash

Princess Jingle Dress Special & Giveaway.

All ages. No adults.

Elder Women Special - Merrilee Longhair

ALL DANCERS AND DRUM GROUPS WELCOME.

THIS IS A FREE EVENT & OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.
BRING YOUR OWN CHAIRS, NO PETS.

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT:

Robert Pete, Powwow Coordinator

(435) 586-0549 (no collect calls) • email: robertpete58@yahoo.com

Vendors: Betty Coch (435) 586-1112 ext. 103 | Princess Contest: Priscilla Peters (435) 531-6429

This is a drug-free event. Committee is not responsible for any accidents, losses, injuries, short funded travelers, etc. Security enforced.

Common Weed May Be Fuel Of The Future Nov 23, 2015 By: Ed Pearce - Email

RENO, NV - It's likely you've seen it growing along our roadsides, but gave it little, if any thought. But as we consider a future beyond cheap oil, curly top gumweed could loom large in our future.

Even here in the field at the University of Nevada, well past the growing season, it's hard to pick it out from other native weeds. Dr. Glenn Miller points to a scraggly, vaguely familiar plant.

"This is kind of what it looks like," he says. "It's very, very common."

I take his word for it because, well, it does look somehow familiar and it looks like the kind of plant to which few of us would give any more than a passing notice. So it's even harder to see why researchers here are so intrigued with its possibilities.

But apparently Grindelia squarrosa, the curly top gumweed, has hidden potential. As Miller explains, that potential was first noted by a former Reno resident, Darrell LeMaire, who looked at all the plants in the Great Basin for hydrocarbon potential and this was by far the best.

And as we look to a future beyond the days of cheap oil, this lowly relative of the sunflower is looking better and better. It's a native plant, well adapted to the high desert where water is scarce.

"I expect we can probably grow this on a foot of water, whereas alfalfa will take four or five feet."

Why would we want to?

Well, fully grown it may stand three feet or more, tall enough to be harvested with existing farming equipment. Process it and it yields a thick, tar-like substance. Heat that and you get fuel.

Miller holds up a vial of a liquid that looks very much like diesel fuel.

"You could put this directly into a diesel engine right now."

In fact, refined, he says, it has real potential as a fuel for jet engines.

So, here we have a native plant that needs little water, yields biofuel with existing equipment and technology.

It's not hard to imagine thousands of acres of gumweed growing on Nevada's arid lands. A new crop for Nevada agriculture as water gets scarce, oil more expensive and climate change forces us to take harder looks at the carbon footprints of our energy sources.

"I'm not going to promise that quite yet," says Miller, "but I think there's a reason to look at arid lands for fuel production. Especially if you can find plants that are already adapted to use less water and produce high amounts of hydrocarbons that can be converted into fuels."

There is, of course, nothing new about biofuels. There's likely some in the tank of your family wagon right now, but it comes with some controversy. Most biofuel crops are grown on our most productive soil and either are or compete with food crops. Grow corn for biofuel and you're raising food prices. Gumweed grown on Nevada's arid lands presents no such conflict.

So what's standing in the great gumweed revolution's way?

"Technologically I think we can do this and we can do this fairly quickly," says Miller. "The issue is the old bottom line. Can we do this sufficiently efficiently that we can get the costs down to where it competes favorably."

Mri Zabarte ·

My country, Newe Sogobia, including Yucca Mountain is not, and has never been part of the US according to the federal statute that allowed Nevada to be organized into a territory and the "supreme law of the land", according to the US Constitution referring to the the 1863 Treaty of Ruby Valley--because America needed allies to win the war against the south...and the Shoshone sacrifice made America this great nation of people. Read them all America and learn something about ho... See More

Nevada officials fighting new report over Yucca impact

Nevada officials dispute the findings of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff's latest impact report for the planned Yucca Mountain nuclear waste repository.
reviewjournal.comlBy Keith Rogers Las Vegas Review-Journal

- NRC increases oversight of TVA's Sequoyah nuclear plant near Chattanooga
The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is increasing its oversight of Unit 1 at the Sequoyah Nuclear Power Plant near Chattanooga as a result of the frequency of unplanned shutdowns the plant has experienced.
Chattanooga Times Free Press
- TVA Cleared to Start First New U.S. Nuclear Power Plant in Nearly 20 Years
The Nuclear Regulatory Commission gave the go-ahead to the Tennessee Valley Authority on Thursday to load uranium fuel into the Watts Bar Unit 2 reactor in Spring City, Tenn., the first such approval in nearly 20 years.
The Wall Street Journal

I have just launched the secondary site called www.LegendsofNativeAmerica.com . I predict that it will become popular in a short period of time. Soon I plan to add self editing profiles to enable the site to become the largest online database of Native American Legends.

This Ya-Native site will soon be transformed into a Standalone Social Network Platform that will facilitate user profiles with the abilities to sell personal merchandise. It will become a facebook/wiki/amazon type Social Network platform.

I am proud to introduce a blog that is dedicated to promoting your content. Just register as a user and write an article, then I will take care of the rest.

Check out this post for more details. Feel free to comment with any questions. Write your article here. A well written article can be seen by over a million a weekly viewers.
www.Ya-Native.com

Mesa Community College - The Early Years

The photographs in this collection depict the early years of the College, daily student life, and faculty engagement. The images in this collection are a mixture of professional and amateur photography. Many of the collection's photographs were not accompanied by metadata; however, their historical provenance can be attributed to their representation of the growth of Mesa Community College.

Historical Note: The use of the term 'Hokam,' documented in the historical collection of Mesa Community College, was originally adopted by the College with the intent of honoring the Hohokam people and their cultural, historical, and geographical legacy. The appropriation of the Hohokam people as the Hokam and the reface mascot ended in 1974 with the adoption of the Thunderbird. The retention and preservation of records that document this cultural appropriation serves to support a historical understanding of the College's representational legacy.

In Memory of Rosalie Little Thunder

Buffalo Field Campaign honors of our co-founder, Rosalie Little Thunder. This video shows one portion of this wonderful woman's life and what she did for...
youtube.com