National Funding

Support for Programs Serving People Living with Paralysis

Christopher & Dana Reeve Foundation: Quality of Life Grant Program

The Christopher & Dana Reeve Foundation is dedicated to curing spinal cord injury by funding innovative research, and to improving the quality of life for people living with paralysis. The Foundation's Quality of Life Grant Program supports nonprofit organizations in the United States that provide services to individuals with paralysis, with some emphasis on paralysis caused by spinal cord injuries. Grants of up to $25,000 are provided to larger organizations that represent and protect individuals with disabilities on a national level as well as local groups that have an immediate and practical impact on individual lives. The Foundation gives special consideration to organizations that serve returning wounded military and their families, and to those that provide targeted services to diverse cultural communities. Priority will be given to organizations that have not yet received Reeve Foundation Quality of Life funding. The upcoming application deadline is August 3, 2015. Visit the Foundation's website for detailed funding guidelines.

Initiatives Connecting Health and Housing Funded

The Kresge Foundation: Developing Healthy Places

The Kresge Foundation seeks to help communities overcome the economic and social disadvantages that contribute to poor health so that all Americans have the chance to enjoy productive, self-determined lives. The Foundation's Developing Healthy Places program supports place-based, community-driven efforts to promote health and remove barriers to opportunity for people in low-income neighborhoods. In the Healthy Housing and Neighborhoods category, support is provided to organizations working to address policies, systems change, and communication to connect health and housing; policies that promote healthy housing and mitigate the impacts of substandard housing; and innovative investments that connect community development, health, and housing. Preliminary applications may be submitted at any time. Visit the Foundation's website to review the application guidelines.

Grants Promote Whole Child Development

W.K. Kellogg Foundation

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation supports children, families, and communities as they create conditions that propel vulnerable children to achieve success as individuals and as contributors to their larger community and society. The Foundation's approach is one of whole child development: ensuring the emotional, social, intellectual, physical, and cultural growth of young children, ages 0-8, within the context of families and communities. The Foundation's work focuses on three goals: Educated Kids – Increasing the number of children who are reading and math proficient by third grade. Healthy Kids – Increasing the number of children born at a healthy birth weight and who receive the care and healthy food they need for optimal development. Secure Families – Increasing the number of children and families living at least 200% above the poverty level. Within and around each goal are commitments to Community and Civic Engagement and Racial Equity. Geographic priority areas in the United States include the states of Michigan, Mississippi, and New Mexico, and the city of New Orleans; however, promising programs throughout the U.S. are also supported. International grants, which have distinct funding priorities, are currently concentrated in selected regions of Haiti and Mexico. Requests for both national and international grants are reviewed throughout the year. Online application information is available on the Foundation's website.

Social Action Initiatives Supported

Unitarian Universalist Veatch Program at Shelter Rock

The Unitarian Universalist Veatch Program at Shelter Rock supports programs throughout the United States that foster the growth and development of the denomination and increase the involvement of Unitarian Universalists in social action. The Veatch Program also supports non-denominational nonprofit organizations nationwide that are committed to social change and whose goals reflect the principles of Unitarian Universalism. Grant categories include community organizing, democratic participation, civil and constitutional rights, environmental justice, global democracy, economic equity and democracy, progressive philanthropy, and workplace organizing. In addition, the New York Metro Initiative provides funds for advancing economic and social equity in New York City and Long Island. Letters of inquiry may be submitted throughout the year. Visit the Veatch Program's website for guidelines on developing letters of inquiry.

Regional Funding

Funds for Organizations Serving Company Communities

Plum Creek Foundation

The Plum Creek Foundation provides support to community-based nonprofit organizations that work to improve the general welfare and quality of life in the communities that Plum Creek serves in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, New Hampshire, Oregon, South Carolina, Texas, Vermont, and West Virginia. The Foundation's grant categories include community services, education, environment, and the arts. The remaining application deadlines for 2015 are July 31 and November 2. Visit the company's website to review the grant guidelines and download the application form.

Grants Improve Child Abuse Investigation Policies in Texas

Texas Children's Justice Act Grant Program

The Texas Children's Justice Act (CJA) brings together child-protection and criminal justice experts to improve the state's response to cases of child abuse and neglect. The purpose of the CJA Grant Program is to improve the following: assessment and investigation of suspected child abuse and neglect cases in a manner which limits additional trauma to the child victim, assessment and investigation of cases of suspected child abuse or neglect related fatalities, investigation and prosecution of cases of child abuse and neglect, and assessment and investigation of cases involving children with disabilities or serious health-related problems who are suspected victims of abuse or neglect. Nonprofit organizations, state agencies, local governments (including courts), and educational institutions are eligible to apply for grants of up to $200,000. Funded programs must address one or more of the CJA priority areas and demonstrate potential for statewide, systems-level improvement. The application deadline is June 19, 2015. Visit the CJA website to review the Program Instructions.

Support for Healthy Aging Initiatives in Massachusetts and Rhode Island

Tufts Health Plan Foundation

The Tufts Health Plan Foundation is dedicated to improving the health and wellness of the communities the company serves throughout Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The Foundation invests in communities that promote healthy living across the life span with an emphasis on healthy aging. The Foundation is currently accepting requests in the following two focus areas: In the Policy and Advocacy category, support is provided for efforts that advance communities toward achieving age-friendly status. Funded programs should be collaborative and involve participants from all community arenas. The Foundation President's Leadership Fund supports community leaders in their work with multiple stakeholders that leads to age-friendly communities and addresses barriers to success in the most vulnerable communities. The deadline for letters of inquiry in both focus areas is July 20, 2015. Visit the Foundation's website to learn more about the application process.

Youth Sports Programs and Camps in Company Communities Funded

Finish Line Youth Foundation

The Finish Line Youth Foundation strives to make a difference in the lives of youth in the communities where company employees and customers live by supporting youth development and active lifestyle programs. Grants of $1,000 to $5,000 are provided to nonprofit organizations that provide opportunities for youth participation in the following areas: 1) youth athletic programs, with emphasis on community-based programs addressing active lifestyles and team building skills; and 2) established camps that focus on sports and active lifestyles, with emphasis on programs serving disadvantaged and special needs kids. Program support and scholarship funding are provided. Requests are reviewed quarterly; the remaining deadlines for 2015 are June 30, September 30, and December 31. Visit the company's website to take the online Eligibility Quiz.

Federal Funding

National Endowment for the Humanities

The Common Heritage program recognizes that members of the public—in partnership with libraries, museums, archives, and historical organizations—have much to contribute to the understanding of our cultural mosaic. The program supports both the digitization of cultural heritage materials and the organization of public programming at community events that explore these materials as a window on a community's history and culture. Historical photographs, artifacts, documents, family letters, art works, and audiovisual recordings are among the many items eligible for digitization and public commemoration. The application deadline is June 25, 2015.

Support Available for Healthy Marriage Education

Department of Health and Human Services

The Healthy Marriage and Relationship Education program is funding initiatives that provide a broad range of marriage and relationship skills training to address the multiple barriers faced by individuals, couples, partners, and families. Funded programs should focus on marriage and relationship skills designed to change behaviors of individuals and move families towards economic self-sufficiency. The application deadline is July 7, 2015.

21 Things You May Not Have Known About The Indian Act

Here are 20 facts you may not know about the Indian Act. ictinc.caBy Bob Joseph

USDA Announces Distance Learning Broadband Grants/Applications due July 6

Yerington Paiute Tribe Funds Medical Services at Health Clinic, Calls Program a Success

Dear Nevada Tribal Representatives:

USDA's Rural Utilities Service has announced the availability of funds for its Distance Learning and Telemedicine grant. There is $19 million available to finance telecommunications equipment, computer networks and advanced technologies for use by students, teachers, medical professionals and rural residents. Minimum grant amounts are $50,000; maximum amounts are $500,000 for fiscal year 2015.

If you live in Nevada, and have questions, contact Rocky Chenelle, the Nevada state general field representative at (530) 379-5032 or by email at rocky.chenelle@wdc.usda.gov

Attached are links and some PDF's concerning the current Distance Learning and/or Telemedicine Grant Program, other forms and schedules can be found at <http://www.rd.usda.gov/.../distance-learning-telemedicine-gra...> . Please feel free to forward to others that you think may be interested in the DLT program this year.

Please use the current/new application guide and other schedules for your application as there have been changes from previous years, as noted on page 4 of the attached guide and throughout.

In order to help insure a very competitive application, a few suggestions from a person who scores lots of applications every year (I don't score applications in my own area..) Additionally, I cannot review the application prior to you submitting it to WDC as this is a competitive grant and there are not enough staff to help all equally:

- Take the time to thoroughly read the application guide and other material, refer to it often. Ask questions as early as you can to give you time at the end for review and corrections.
- Participate in webinars given as indicated on the web site, if you have questions email them to dltinfo@wdc.usda.gov Talk with the group / each other who are putting the application together on a regular basis and exchange ideas, early and often.
- Once the entire package is complete but, before you submit it, do an internal peer review as a total deliverable not simply by sections. Each section is dependent upon the others in order to be cohesive and consistent and to score more points....

Some general items to watch for:

Do all the forms have the same consistent site names and budget numbers across the application?

Match letters of commitment are clear and unambiguous on what they are proposing and signed by an authority who can legally bind the organization showing their printed name, title and signature on the org/letterhead?

Is Budget information is clear, complete and consistent? Do the totals and percentages add up?

Are Narratives and explanations are full, complete and consistent across the entire application?

All forms are complete in their entirety, there are no blank spaces?

Review “errors to avoid” as well as take note of “tips” or things that are in RED in the application guide. They are there because those are common mistakes that people make when submitting an application.

JULY 6th, 2015 is the date applications must be post marked by however, please review the instructions in the application guide for delivery, late deliveries will be returned. Visit us on line at <http://www.rd.usda.gov/nv>

Tahoe: A Visual History

Experience one of America's most beloved landscapes through the eyes of 175 painters, photographers, architects, weavers and sculptors.

From President Obama’s Eulogy for Joe Biden, Jr.

Without love, life can be cold and it can be cruel. Sometimes cruelty is deliberate — the action of bullies or bigots, or the inaction of those indifferent to another’s pain. But often, cruelty is simply born of life, a matter of fate or God’s will, beyond our mortal powers to comprehend. To suffer such faceless, seemingly random cruelty can harden the softest hearts, or shrink the sturdiest. It can make one mean, or bitter, or full of self-pity. Or, to paraphrase an old proverb, it can make you beg for a lighter burden.

But if you’re strong enough, it can also make you ask God for broader shoulders; shoulders broad enough to bear not only your own burdens, but the burdens of others; shoulders broad enough to shield those who need shelter the most.

You know, anyone can make a name for themselves in this reality TV age, especially in today’s politics. If you’re loud enough or controversial enough, you can get some attention. But to make that name mean something, to have it associated with dignity and integrity — that is rare. There’s no shortcut to get it. It’s not something you can buy. But if you do right by your children, maybe you can pass it on. And what greater inheritance is there? What greater inheritance than to be part of a family that passes on the values of what it means to be a great parent; that passes on the values of what it means to be a true citizen; that passes on the values of what it means to give back, fully and freely, without expecting anything in return?

That's what our country was built on -- men like Beau. That's who built it -- families like this. We don't have kings or queens or lords. We don't have to be born into money to have an impact. We don't have to step on one another to be successful. We have this remarkable privilege of being able to earn what we get out of life, with the knowledge that we are no higher than anybody else, or lower than anybody else. We know this not just because it is in our founding documents, but because families like the Bidens have made it so, because people like Beau have made it so.

We do not know how long we've got here. We don't know when fate will intervene. We cannot discern God's plan. What we do know is that with every minute that we've got, we can live our lives in a way that takes nothing for granted. We can love deeply. We can help people who need help. We can teach our children what matters, and pass on empathy and compassion and selflessness. We can teach them to have broad shoulders.
