DONOVAN GARCIA MEMORIAL RAFFLE

Assistant Chief Donovan A. Garcia, of the Hungry Valley Volunteer Fire Department, died after collapsing during wildland fire training on June 5, 2014. Donovan was the first Native American Firefighter from Northern Nevada to die in the line of duty. Every October, the National Fallen Firefighters Foundation sponsors the official national tribute to all firefighters who died in the line of duty during the previous year. It is a memorial weekend and thousands attend to pay respect to these firefighters. This year Donovan's name will be added to the wall at the National Fallen Firefighters Memorial in Emmitsburg, MD. Raffle 2 is to assist family attend ceremony.

Prizes include: Various beaded items donated by inmates from the Pleasant Valley California

State Prison and miscellaneous items donated from community members of the Reno Sparks Indian Colony and Washoe Tribe

Tickets are $1.00 each or 6 for $5.00

I seldom editorialize in these pages, but after today's National Security Forum on water, I feel vindicated for haranguing on the subject. Please make sure your water rights are intact and your constituents know how they are attached to reservation formation and under your control. Continue to watch some of the court decisions previously referenced herein as what General Joe Schaefer shared today may upset it all in the near future. I will provide the presentation slides when they become available. Also be sure to read the full article by clicking the link. sdc

In Drying Colorado River Basin, Indian Tribes Are Water Dealmakers

Combined, they control the rights to one in every five gallons of the Colorado River. With such substantial rights to water, American Indian tribes will shape the future of the warming, drying Southwest.

Dealmakers today, the 29 federally recognized tribes nonetheless worry about losing water access one in every five gallons and pressure on scarce supplies increases.

This week, Circle of Blue reports on the role of tribal water rights in one of America's most important watersheds.

“By broadly redefining the ‘waters of the United States,’ the agencies have asserted unprecedented authority to regulate the nation’s waters. In doing so, the agencies have exceeded their power under the Clean Water Act, the Administrative Procedure Act, and the U.S. Constitution. Plaintiffs bring this action to stop this extraordinary expansion of federal authority.”—Excerpt from a lawsuit filed Friday by U.S. business groups, including the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, to stop the federal government from implementing its proposed Clean Water Rule, which outlines the waterways covered by the federal Clean Water Act. FINANCIAL LITERACY COACHING EDUCATION AND MENTORING PROGRAM is in major development

SAFF is so excited about the continuing development of it's new program FINANCIAL LITERACY COACHING EDUCATION AND MENTORING PROGRAM.

Community organizations are helping to design, advise, implement, and fund this exciting new project which will be for teens. Tutors will help teens - with a national video SAFF is producing - to learn about developing Action Plans for managing money so money doesn't manage them.

Nevada ranks #1 in the nation for the most number of families living in poverty.

Teens being tutored by SAFF will develop action plans with their tutors on subjects important for when the teens age out of the foster care system and/or return to their birth families. Subjects include Avoiding Predatory Loans, Managing Credit Cards, Completing a College or Vocational School Application, Writing Scholarship Essays, The Difference Between Private and Government Student Loans, Do's and Don'ts in Renting and Keeping an Apartment, and other important subjects. It's not enough to simply be taught things about Financial Literacy. What is important is to develop an Action Plan.

Community organizations helping SAFF are Opportunity Alliance Financial Literacy Coaching of Nevada, National Financial Literacy Educators Council, National Financial Institute, [William G.
