Water used to cool a nuclear power plant in Florida was found to be leaking into Biscayne Bay, the site of a national park. The plant has recently struggled to maintain the proper temperature in its cooling canals, bringing in extra fresh water that may have inadvertently increased the spread of an underground saltwater plume. Miami Herald

“The situation has to change. We need a national conversation to make sure this never happens again.” –Gina McCarthy, administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, speaking to local government officials on the need to prevent another drinking water crisis like the one in Flint, Michigan. McCarthy sent letters last week to state governors urging them to take action to protect drinking water. (Reuters) (What was your governor’s response?)

Daily rainfall extremes globally have increased 1 to 2 percent each decade since 1950, according to a new study published in the journal Nature Climate Change. The increases occurred in both wet and dry regions, and are expected to continue throughout the century due to climate change. Climate Home

John D. Berry Being pretty much flat on your back for 4+ days struggling to breathe and coughing up junk gives you time for reflection. Will just say looking back over the path which could have been a straight walk of a life in balance, by listening more closely to my elders, I can more easily now see, from this distance, where the path was not straight, where errors set in. Where false trails were set by others and myself. The path corrects itself - balance - never perfect,, always moving, always learning. You also be well my friends and families.

National Funding

Support for Consumer Financial Literacy Projects

Rose Foundation for Communities and the Environment: Consumer Financial Education Fund

The mission of the Rose Foundation for Communities and the Environment is to support grassroots initiatives to inspire community action to protect the environment, consumers, and public health. The Foundation's Consumer Financial Education Fund supports projects that relate to consumer financial education, with an emphasis on issues related to large financial institutions, basic banking, access to financial services, retail banking accounts, and underbanked or vulnerable populations. Nonprofit organizations throughout the U.S. are eligible to apply for grants of up to $100,000. Within the overall framework of educating consumers about financial issues and increasing consumer financial literacy, eligible projects must specifically relate to teaching consumers how to manage their finances to avoid overdraft fees. Funded projects may be regional, statewide, or national in scope. Online letters of inquiry are due April 8, 2016; full proposals must be submitted by June 24, 2016. Visit the Foundation's website to download the Consumer Financial Education Fund Request for Proposals.

Services for Military Members and Veterans Funded

Infinite Hero Foundation

The mission of the Infinite Hero Foundation is to combat the most difficult front line issues – mental and physical – facing returning military heroes and their families. The Foundation provides grants of $25,000 to $100,000 to nonprofit organizations offering effective programs or treatments at no cost to active duty service members or veterans for service-related mental and physical injuries. Grants must be applied directly to program costs and cannot be used for fundraising or administrative overhead. Letters of interest are due April 1, 2016; invited grant applications must be submitted by July 1, 2016. Visit the Foundation's website to learn more about the grant program.

Grants Promote the Modeling of International Health Programs in the U.S.

Robert Wood Johnson Foundation: Global Ideas for U.S. Solutions

Global Ideas for U.S. Solutions, an initiative of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, supports ideas to help build a Culture of Health in the United States, where everyone has the opportunity to live healthier lives, no matter who they are, where they live, or how much money they make. Grants ranging from $50,000 to $250,000 are provided to programs that have worked abroad and have the potential to be adapted to work in the United States. Of particular interest are ideas that build healthy places, build social connection across the lifespan, get and keep children healthy, integrate health and social services, and increase the healthcare system's focus on the root causes of poor health. Applicants may represent organizations from a wide range of fields and disciplines, both within and outside the health sector. Proposals are encouraged from both U.S.-based applicants with ideas for adapting an overseas model and international applicants with ideas that could work in the United States. The application deadline is May 31, 2016. Visit the Foundation's website to review the Funding Opportunity Brochure and submit an online application.

Environmentally Focused K-12 STEM Projects Supported

National Environmental Education Foundation: Greening STEM Integration Grants for Educators

The National Environmental Education Foundation is dedicated to fostering environmental education for all ages and in all segments of the American public. The Foundation's Greening STEM Integration Grants for Educators initiative funds projects that support the integration of Greening STEM into current or new programming or curricula. (The Greening STEM theory contends that the natural world offers a compelling and universal context for investigations and applications of many STEM lessons.) Grants of $500 to $1,000 are provided to K-12 teachers, after-school programs, and nature organizations throughout the United States. The application deadline is April 5, 2016. Visit the Foundation's website to download the request for proposals.

Organizations
Addressing Poverty in South Carolina
Funded

[Sisters of Charity
Foundation of South
Carolina: Caritas
Grants](#)

The Sisters of Charity
Foundation of South

Carolina works to address the root causes and effects of poverty in South Carolina. The Foundation's Caritas Grants provide support to nonprofit organizations and faith-based agencies based in South Carolina that provide outreach services in order to meet the basic needs of the poor, including food, clothing, shelter, and free health programs. These awards of up to $7,500 are designed for organizations with annual budgets of less than $900,000 that are dealing with situational poverty or crisis poverty. The Caritas Grants application deadlines for 2016 are April 5 and October 4. Visit the Sisters of Charity Foundation's website to review the application guidelines.

Grants Help High School Athletics Programs Promote Academics in Selected Regions

The Athlife Foundation

The AthLife Foundation is fueled by an unwavering belief in the potential of young people in our nation's most challenged communities. The Foundation's current call for applications is seeking high school grant applicants who compete interscholastically and seek to create their own programming to utilize sport as a vehicle to promote academic achievement, develop leadership skills, and prepare deserving student athletes to compete in their future careers beyond sport.

High schools in Alabama, Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania are eligible to apply. In addition, high schools from the following cities/regions are eligible: Los Angeles and Oakland, CA, and adjacent cities/counties, and Jacksonville, FL, and adjacent cities/counties.

Tribal/BIE high schools and high schools that serve Native American youth in all 50 states are also eligible to apply. The Foundation will provide grants of up to $10,000 for the 2016-17 academic year to support the creation and maintenance of a professional year-round academic-athletic support position. Continued grant funding beyond 2016-17 will be contingent upon the successful implementation of the program. The application deadline is June 17, 2016.

Application materials may be downloaded from the Foundation's homepage, or requested from the Foundation's website.

Support for Healthy Living Initiatives in Texas

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas: Healthy Kids, Healthy Families®

Healthy Kids, Healthy Families®, an initiative of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas, is dedicated to improving the health and well-being of children and families across Texas. The initiative supports nonprofit organizations that address the following areas: nutrition, physical activity, disease prevention and management, and supporting safe environments. Grant applications of up to $250,000 are accepted. The application deadline is April 1, 2016. Online applications may be submitted through this website beginning on March 1, 2016. Visit the Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas website to learn more about the initiative and to download the Frequently Asked Questions.

Direct Services for Disadvantaged Maine Residents Funded

John T. Gorman Foundation

The John T. Gorman Foundation is dedicated to advancing ideas and opportunities that can improve the lives of disadvantaged people in Maine. The Foundation's Direct Services Grant Program supports nonprofit organizations throughout the state that work to address the immediate needs of disadvantaged people in three areas: mental illness; cancer resources for patients, survivors, and affected families; and quality services to address basic needs. Grants of up to $25,000 will be provided to nonprofit organizations (including schools, clinics, community-based organizations, and tribal governments) to fund direct service activities for existing programs. The application deadline is April 15, 2016. Visit the Foundation's website to submit an online application.

Federal Funding

Program Supports Safety and Wellness for Police Officers

Department of Justice

The Officer Safety and Wellness Initiative provides multifaceted training, technical assistance, and specialized programs to all levels of law enforcement. The application deadline is April 21, 2016.

Citizenship Services Supported

Department of Homeland Security

The Citizenship and Integration Grant Program: Citizenship Instruction and Naturalization Application Services program seeks to expand the availability of high-quality citizenship preparation services for lawful permanent residents in communities across the nation. The application deadline is April 22, 2016.

Is Water a Human Right?

Brian Palmer, onEarth: The question is not whether a human right to water exists, but whether our state and federal governments are fulfilling it. The answer, for the residents of Flint, Michigan; Hoosick Falls, New York; and Jackson, Mississippi, is clearly no.

Twice a year I choose a tribal school (or schools) that I would like to donate some of my Tribal maps to. Many Native schools are under-funded and can use any donations that are available. The hope is that these children can take pride in seeing their People represented -and see their place in the world . Oftentimes they are very happy to see the traditional name of their People represented as well.

This is why I am offering a Buy one/Donate one offer to you. All this week (through Thursday) , for every map I sell on my website www.tribalnationsmaps.com I am going to donate 1 to Tiospa Zina Tribal School . I will be shipping all maps out to the school- attention Sarah Sunshine Manning - on Friday morning. This is a great opportunity to take advantage of the many deals on my website, as well as to support Native kids for a worthy cause.

If you would like to learn more about this school, please go to: <http://www.tzts.us/>
Thank you for your support!-Aaron

This is a picture of the first intake of Lakota boys to Carlisle School, Pennsylvania, a boarding school set up to educate Indian youth. The id's are courtesy of Dietmar Schulte-Möhring, a great piece of research by a dedicated photograph scholar. The photo was taken in 1879 and shows the boys just arrived, still wearing native dress. These lads were from the highest echelons of Lakota society, the sons of chiefs, headmen and distinguished families. Over the following days they would endure haircuts, fittings for trousers, jackets, shoes, and begin a process of education whose objective was to 'kill the Indian, but save the man'. -Kingsley Bray-
