Want to be in two places at the same time? Have a split personality?
Thursday is for you!

Join us on Thursday, September 8th from 7 - 8:30pm at PLAN's office for a backyard screening and discussion of "American Outrage \(Our Land, Our Life\)". This inspirational documentary tells the story of Western Shoshone sisters, Carrie and Mary Dann, who stood up to mining giant Barrick Gold. Stick around after the film for a discussion of mining's devastating impacts, and the brave people who are fighting to protect Nevada's cultural and environmental resources.

These critical issues were almost completely ignored in a four-part mining series broadcast on Northern Nevada's Public station, KNPB. The Nevada Mining Association paid for the 120 minute production, which dedicated just eight minutes of air time to voices concerned about the environmental and cultural impacts of mining in our state.

PLAN, Great Basin Resource Watch, and the Comstock Resident's Association were interviewed for the series with the expectation that KNPB would air a fair and accurate portrayal of one of Nevada's most controversial industries. We were sorely disappointed. After viewing the series, we wrote a letter detailing our concerns and shared it in person with KNPB management, the Community Advisory Board and the Board of Directors. KNPB's response did not address any of the specific factual concerns, totaling over eight pages, that were raised and failed to justify why opposing views accounted for less than 10% of the overall content.

Don't miss this opportunity to push back against corporate control of our public media and learn about Nevada's rich history of resistance to open-pit gold mining. Bring lawn chairs if you have them; we will provide the popcorn!

* Lawyer Warriors stand in solidarity with the Standing Rock Sioux Tribe as they exercise their inherent rights as a sovereign nation in protecting Unci Maka “Mother Earth” against the Dakota Access Pipeline. As Native Americans, we are citizens of three sovereigns: our Tribes, the United States, and the state we reside in. This paradigm creates confusion, misunderstandings, and conflict at times. At the University of South Dakota School Law, the future law professionals are being trained and prepared to enter into the legal communities across the nation. NALSA introduces law students to the Native American issues to form allies and bring awareness about who we are as Native people. Standing up for Unci Maka is part of tribal self-government, and we continue to protect our culture, identity, language, and way of life. We invite more people to find alternative solutions to doing our part as well. Riding your bike to class, using recycled goods, and finding creative personal ways to make a positive change

I see what you're doing here governor.
People in the area
blame the Indians for the inconvenience &

for not having access to popular boat launches & campgrounds, but you governor have declared the state of emergency when there is NONE. They should blame you & others involved.

However, I don't blame you for the declaration. ND could definitely use the federal funds even though your party always says it doesn't want federal over-reach. I don't think you'll call the national guard as that would hurt your efforts to villainize the unarmed & non-violent Dakota Access camps. North Dakota doesn't exist in a bubble anymore and "the Indians" (which I've heard you refer to "them" as) fight isn't with you, Morton County, the State, the police, HPs, or our first rate National Guard in which many friends and relatives have served and for whose wages & retirements I will fight for as a congressman as opposed to fighting for corporations, like your party does. "The Indians", and many others from other "racial backgrounds", are making a stand for clean water & a new energy economy. Obviously we need a just transition, mindful that an all of the above approach is the reality now. Water security is foremost as energy & ag security flow directly from it.

Who is going to make ND farmers' oil soaked lands fertile again, all 3000 spills-worth. Who's going to lend them $ with that land?

I see how you think you don't have to worry about Republicans being upset in this year's elections because you have sold North Dakota out to big oil. Money isn't a problem for you guys, cleaning up oil spills is though. My opponent begs Donald Trump to let him hold onto his hate filled coat-tails, he won an "energy advisor" title much the same as you were awarded an "agriculture advisory cmte" title. For what? I don't know, seems like titles worth as much as an honorary degree, from Trump University.

I am running as a NonPartisan League Dem. We have been losing because Indians & young people do not vote, partly because your party tries to make it more difficult but this year may be different. North Dakotans care about the land, about the waters, about our responsible energy, agriculture, ranching, hunting, fishing, tourist economy, et.al. North Dakotans who have that respect are the future of our exceptional state. We are the real shining city on the hill, a shining city of mutual respect not irrational fear.

Did you know the BLM is saying if you pick pine nuts on their lands (whatever), you are limited to 15 lbs. I was at the meeting when they said this.. But yet they are wanting to open the areas for commercial pickers. Anything for a buck I guess. Elders stood up and said "What!, I need 200 lbs for my family." I wish I could tell the BLM you can only have 15 lbs of potatoes for your family to last the winter. Good Luck with that BLM.

Just remember, I come here for a reason, if, if, things should turn for the worse, I will do whatever it takes to protect the future of future generations, as those ancestors before had done the same, this i understand, someone prayed for our future when the US invaded our territories.

As night takes the day there are many things happening tonight, back to the media room to post what I seen for the day. I got to see my brother Sheldon Wolfchild Peters it has been so long think was like 1989 since I last seen him and it was here in the Dakotas. He, Charlie Hill and

Floyd Western, John Trudel, would get together, Sheldon guided me on the Sun Dance path. Our smiles lit up the camp, will be good to speak more tomorrow. I am honored to be here, at times it is overwhelming, It has been a long day, started it early now its time to rest feels like it is going to be a interesting day tomorrow, don't know what to expect. Now the world is seeing all of this and the truth, keep sharing and educating on whats going on here. Most are here for the long haul, we pray there is victory on the 9th, even then the people will stay. Almost 200 tribes being represented here, yes, the prophecy is real, it is before us! 9.2. 10 pm PST

All is peaceful. It's just all psychological right now. Just that road block and the few who take it upon themselves to take direct action. Some is for reason.
