

There is so much.....from images to comments/thoughts; from hard news to legal documents. It flows like the River, fast and furious. There is too much to put in daily Journals because there is also a lot of time dated information to send out. #NoDAPL will be continuing for a long, arduous time.....but now there will also be coverage by a variety of media and this Journal will continue to be a place where one can find a lot of information/contacts at one time.

But to “catch up” with amount of copy that needs your attention on other fronts, am sending out a special edition. sdc

Court denies Sioux tribe request to halt Dakota Access pipeline construction

<https://www.rt.com/usa/358846-dakota-pipeline-judge-ruling/>

HUGE NEWS ON #NoDAPL fight!

The tribe lost the court case today on their injunction request.

But despite that loss, the Army Corp is still going to voluntarily not issue permits to dig on Corps land or under the water right now until they can do a more thorough review. They also ask DAPL to voluntarily not dig within 20 miles east or west of the Lake Oahe while this process is pending. DAPL is allowed to continue construction on private land, and within the 20 miles if they want as it was a voluntary request.

Dakota Access can still try to build up to the federal lands

But this is a big win. DOJ calling on reform of the permitting process.

"The Army will not authorize constructing the Dakota Access pipeline on Corps land bordering or under Lake Oahe until it can determine whether it will need to reconsider any of its previous decisions regarding the Lake Oahe site under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) or other federal laws. Therefore, construction of the pipeline on Army Corps land bordering or under Lake Oahe will not go forward at this time."

Today was such a beautiful day in many ways. Probably one the best days of my life of than the births of my children. So much happened in one day. Took my family up to the places where in the beginning of this protection where women took the front lines and the Spirit Horses saved the day took our prayers there as you seen in the live view. It will always be known in generations to come where people United took a stand to defend water and life. Then I took them to where last weeks action took place to stop the destruction of ancient ones and holy ground. Then we went to Ft Rice to see the launching of the boats of the Northwest. I had never seen anything like that guess there was a reason. For the phone battery to drain so that I really emerge my spirit with the paddlers and all the people. At the main camp people from all over share their songs and dances and prayers. Then riders came in with the flag that was captured at the Little Big Horn! I ran along as they ride all around the camps. I ran the entire encampment even up FaceBook Hill. Then a prayer circle around the main fire praying for tomorrow. Then the arrival of the boats. Sorry I did not broadcast something this beautiful I had to be a part of. Then helping elders and women come to shore and helping to bring ashore the boats. The evening was blessed by rainbows and rain. This is truly one of the best days and the night was even better. As the people of the North West blessed us with songs and dances. Following that I went to a group of Pomo's who were singing the songs women songs they invited me to stay and listen. I tested as I looked up and could see the smiles of our ancestors as they see what is happening here at Standing Rock. There is so much beauty here. Sitting here I can here the Pomo's singing and to the southeast drummers singing round dance song and the cheers from a hip hop rap concert. WTH? So you had your choice of music, you know what I chose! This is a beautiful day! Mni Wiconi Water Is Life! Standing Rock Lives! Remember to pray for tomorrow! Let it be good for all nations that Dakota Pipeline #nodapl gets defeated in the courtroom. If you believe in the negativity of what news sources are writing about Standing Rock it wil

The other day I read a comment from a lady regarding the dapl that stated "We should have killed the Indians off when we had the chance! They're just a bunch of violent bums who want money!" I screenshot it, then went to her profile & screenshot that as well. It bothered me all day long & it just kept making me angry. I wanted to post it to facebook so bad so she would get fired from her job for her racist comments but when I went to her profile, I noticed her profile picture was of her & her four kids. As much as I hated that lady at the moment, I knew I couldn't do that to those babies. My mom said to me yesterday that "Ignorance is NOT a virtue" and that stuck with me. This lady was ignorant. What kind of a person would I be if I stooped to her level? What would that make me? I was super reluctant, but I decided to message her lastnight & tell her how her comment really effected me & made me feel & probably made others feel. I honestly didnt think she would respond, but i woke up this morning to a new message in my inbox.. From her. She explained to me how she was sorry and said things out of anger because her husband (who happened to be a dapl worker) quit his job because he didn't want to "fight a fight that wasnt his and he didnt want any enemies" & now they are fighting to survive off of just her income. I told her how its not just our(Native Americans) fight, its your fight too! That we are fighting for you & your children & their children & generations to come to ensure that they have clean drinking water. She explained to me that she never thought of it that way and after a few messages back & fourth she thanked me for being kind and messaging her because she now saw things in a different way. The bottom line is you can't fight hate with hate. You shouldn't leave equally as racist comments right back on those pages or screenshot comments to get people fired and expect to get your message across, but use this as your time to TEACH! Teach those people what you are fighting for and make them see it differently. I know hateful comments get you angry & heated, but if you react in an angry way right back then that makes you no better than them.

Remember what it means to be Native American. Remember our virtues. #Wisdom #Love #Respect #Bravery #Honesty #Humility #Truth
