Attack Dogs are a Terrorist Tactic

From the Eagle Watch September 8, 2016

All the prayers notwithstanding, there is a war going on. Once again, the corporatists and their goons are attacking Indigenous people with a clear intent to provoke, kill and cause as much harm as possible.

There are 2 things abt the dog attacks which took place on Saturday at Standing Rock near the Missouri River.

The use of a private security company instead of law enforcement means the state can deny responsibility for what is going on. They can play dumb and make false statements with impunity like the Morton County Sheriff does.

The use of attack dogs is the terrorist action of an occupation army plain and simple. History is filled with examples including during the 1960's civil rights movement. In this case at Standing Rock, the trainers of the dogs are inept and the dogs appear to have more sense than their handlers.

The incident could have been much worse if Indigenous people did not act in a self disciplined and measured way.

Some 5,000 people are now camped near the Missouri River and more keep on arriving. The situation is amazing and yet very dangerous at the same time. Support is needed and messages of solidarity.

Remember that psychological warfare and the dissemination of misinformation is part of warfare. Always read between the lines and use analytical thinking. Not everyone is as they appear.

A forthcoming decision on the Dakota Access oil pipeline prompted North Dakota to ready its National Guard troops. The United Nations Deputy Secretary-General outlined why providing water and sanitation to all is so important.

"I tried to imagine the grief of those children's parents and siblings. I asked myself what the victims might have made of their lives had they had what all human beings should have – a healthy start in life. And I decided, then and there, to never stop fighting for the fundamental right for all to water and sanitation." –Jan Eliasson, deputy secretary-general of the United Nations, on seeing people who had died from water-related diseases in Somalia in 1992. He has since fought tirelessly to raise awareness about the costs of inadequate water and sanitation and to place water firmly on the international policy agenda. (Guardian)
