Bucky Harjo Standing Rock - Oceti Sakowin was rocking tonight at the Paiute Camp. We had drummers from the Northwest up Washington to come in and sing but before my brother Marcus came and recorded some songs for me to learn. Then the relatives from the northwest shared their journey their land their people and songs. It was a blessing as is what happens here at Oceti Sakowin. These songs will forever echo in this valley. It was a good evening brother Red returning back to camp and now the three girls are heading east to go home. Dropping off in Missouri, Tennessee and then finally Maryland. They'll all be back. Now it's late and people drifting off to sleep and I'll take fire duty tonight into the morning. I have a feeling I will be dozing off soon. Hopefully my meds will be here tomorrow night. Praying and meditating is working.....thank you

Not sure I've ever seen a photograph more rangements. Going to take a little longer but I know what to do. Not much snow fell today hopefully this is just the tail end of the storm. The winds have calmed and I have settled for the night. It was a long day many laughs at camp and great to walk around after a short nap. Met my nephews by the fire and then went to check out what was happening at the bridge. All I ask for these people coming in please inform

People as to what you are doing. We are not here for ourselves but for all of us. All it takes is one to mess it up and jeopardize all that we have stood for. Seeing Kris the vet who walked all the way from Oklahoma who answered the call of duty to protect people. Awesome! I miss my family I miss my friends I miss my doggies I miss the kids I see each day I miss my daughter and my sons and all my wives! 🐾 I miss life as I knew and this time around it's even harder for me to even think of going home after the last time seeing what happened to the people I know get abused by the police and feeling so helpless. I've been touched in many ways in my way of thinking and how I see things. The dreams speak and I listen. Tonight did an interview with KPOO in the Bay Area. From someone who doesn't know what to say I have words speaking like never before. Thank you KPOO for inviting me to be a voice. Once I am back in full health I will be able to walk the great encampment eating food drinking coffee and meeting all the people. There are reasons why things happen, healing and that's what we all are doing is healing. I am torn with a decision I need to make regarding going home. Even life at home will not be the same. This is the happiest place I've been to yes it's quite like Sun Dance but better in a sense. So many prayers, songs, and making of families. Oceti Sakowin is home to thousands who have come, those who stayed and those about to come. It is sacred and I am seeing all this from camp so many songs it makes my heart beat strong it keeps me content. There are those who spend most of the time in the comfort of the casino but many of us are a part of the life of the camp. Loving the cold and snow. Water is Life, life is mysterious and this snow is water it is a blessing. MNI WICONI love to all of you who have been a part of my life. Thank you.

I have had people wonder why I have been advocating on this uncomfortable issue. I believe that when an issue causes discomfort we need to seek out the root of the discomfort, understand it and then either choose to disregard it or choose to speak out against it. This article is a good overview of the repeated subjugation to governmental "oversight" that the Standing Rock Sioux have been subjected to since gold was discovered in their homelands. Their treaties have never been honored. They have been subjected to unmentionable atrocities even under the banner of the white flag. They still stand and are saying "no more" at Standing Rock 2016.

Ace Hardware statement on North Dakota protest and product sales

Update: As of Thursday, Dec. 1 at 10 a.m. local time, Ace Hardware stores in Bismarck, N. D., are in-stock and selling 1 lb. propane canisters.

At Ace, our local store owners take great pride in serving their neighbors and it is our policy to serve all customers without discrimination and to follow all laws in each respective community.

We understand the concerns that have been shared with us regarding product sales related to the recent protests in North Dakota and have been working very hard to gather all of the facts from our locally-owned Ace stores that operate in the area and local authorities. To be candid, we've been working feverishly to unearth all of the facts, which have been cloudy at times.

In an effort to clear any misunderstanding and/or misinformation, Ace Hardware can now confirm that there is no ban on the sale of products at our locally-owned Ace stores; customers should feel free to check with their local store for inventory availability. (Readers still encouraged to call their local ACE and ask if they have a statement. sdc)
