Support for Innovative Employment Programs for People with Disabilities

Kessler Foundation: Signature Employment Grants

The Kessler Foundation's Signature Employment Grants provide support for non-traditional solutions that increase employment outcomes for individuals with disabilities. Grants ranging from $100,000 to $250,000 per year for up to two years are awarded nationally to fund pilot initiatives, demonstration projects, or social ventures that lead to the generation of new ideas to solve the high unemployment and underemployment of individuals with disabilities. Preference is given to interventions that overcome specific employment barriers related to long-term dependence on public assistance or advance competitive employment in a cost-effective manner. Although proposals can be submitted from any state, this year the Foundation has prioritized serving Americans with disabilities that live in rural states and other areas with more limited service delivery. Nonprofit organizations, public or private schools, and public institutions, such as universities and government agencies based in the United States or any of its territories are eligible to apply. Online grant concepts are due March 17, 2017; invited proposals must be submitted by July 10, 2017. Visit the Kessler Foundation's website to review the Signature Employment Grants guidelines.

Diabetes Education and Awareness Programs Funded

Sun Life Team Up Against Diabetes

The Sun Life Team Up Against Diabetes grant program is dedicated to addressing the prevention of diabetes and its related complications. Grants are provided to nonprofit organizations throughout the country that focus on the following areas: diabetes prevention, awareness, education, and care; diabetes management; recovery and support from diabetes-related complications; obesity prevention; and nutritional programs, including education, management, and awareness. The application deadline is March 31, 2017. Visit the Sun Life website to submit an online application.

Grants Expand Collaborations to Advance College and Career Success

National Education Pathways with a Purpose Initiative

The National Education Pathways with a Purpose Initiative, a collaboration between the United States Conference of Mayors (USCM) and USA Funds, awards competitive grants to expand creative initiatives that mayors have developed in their cities to advance both college and career readiness and college completion. Cities are recognized for developing strong collaborations between K-12 and higher education systems and employers to address college preparation and long-term career success. Eligible programs must apply innovative approaches to achieve the following two goals: enhance student persistence in and completion of post-secondary education or training programs, and enhance employment of graduates of post-secondary education or training programs in high-value occupations. USCM Member Cities are eligible to apply for a total of $200,000 in grants: $100,000 to one large city with a population greater than 500,000; $75,000 to a medium-sized city with a population between 200,000 and 500,000; and $25,000 to a small city of under 200,000. The application deadline is March 31, 2017. Visit the USCM website to access the application guidelines booklet.

Mediation Services Addressing Elder Issues Supported

JAMS Foundation/NAFCM Community Mediation Mini-Grant Program

The JAMS Foundation/NAFCM Community Mediation Mini-Grant Program supports the development and refinement of innovative and emerging community mediation center services nationwide. The 2017 Mini-Grant Program will focus on funding the development and refinement of innovative and emerging community mediation center services that will address services for the elder population and care issues. These services should be able to be replicated by community mediators throughout the country as a path for sustainability and growth for the field of community mediation, as well as to inform the development of training, evidence-based strategies, policy, and research at the national level. Mini-Grants of $12,000 for up to two years will be awarded to up to five organizations. Nonprofit organizations, educational institutions, and public agencies are eligible to apply. The deadline for Solicitation of Interest forms is March 13, 2017; invited full proposals will be due June 20, 2017. Visit the NAFCM website to learn more about the program.

Regional Funding

Funds for Initiatives to Protect the Great Lakes Basin

National Fish and Wildlife Foundation: Sustain Our Great Lakes

The Sustain Our Great Lakes program, administered by the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (NFWF), is dedicated to improving the habitat and water quality in the Great Lakes basin. In 2017, grant funding will be awarded in three categories: Streams, Green Storm Water Infrastructure, and Coastal Wetlands. Nonprofit organizations; state, tribal, and local governments; and educational institutions may apply for grants ranging from $50,000 to $1,500,000. (A limited number of grants may be directed to projects in Canada.) The proposal deadline is February 21, 2017. Visit the NFWF website to review the 2017 Request for Proposals.

Grants Enhance Bank Communities in the Western U.S.

Umpqua Bank Charitable Foundation

The Umpqua Bank Charitable Foundation supports nonprofit organizations that enhance the quality of life in the communities the bank serves in California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington. The Foundation provides Community Giving Grants in the following target giving areas: The Youth Development and Education area focuses on programs that create opportunities for early childhood and K-12 youth that fulfill their educational experience, promote their well-being, and inspire them to reach their full potential. The Economic Opportunity area focuses on organizations that promote stability in neighborhoods through assistance to low-to-moderate income individuals and families. Community Giving Grant applications are reviewed quarterly; the first application deadline for 2017 is March 31. Visit Umpqua Bank's website for more information.

Grants are provided to nonprofit organizations, educational institutions, and government agencies serving communities in Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, and Oklahoma. TCI's funding priorities include the following: Health Innovation, Social Determinants of Health, and Healthcare Workforce Development. The letter of inquiry deadline for applicants in Colorado is March 1, 2017; the deadline for Illinois, Iowa, and Oklahoma applicants is June 30, 2017. Visit the TCI website to download the 2017 Request for Proposals.

New Jersey Organizations Addressing Employment for People with Disabilities Funded

Kessler Foundation: Community Employment Grant Program

The Kessler Foundation is dedicated to improving the lives of people with disabilities caused by stroke, multiple sclerosis, injuries to the brain and spinal cord, and other chronic conditions. Through the Community Employment Grant Program, the Foundation is currently offering the following grant programs to meet the needs of the New Jersey organizations focusing on employment for individuals with disabilities. The EZ Innovation Employment Grants Program seeks to foster innovation in employment for people with disabilities in New Jersey in ways that will increase job placement through creative experimentation. The idea submission deadline is February 27, 2017. The Traditional Community Grants Program supports non-traditional solutions that increase employment and career outcomes for New Jersey citizens with disabilities. The application deadline is April 3, 2017. (The Transitioning-To-Work Grants Program will be offered later in the year.) Visit the Foundation's website to learn more about these grant programs.

This morning I cried joyful tears. A man from Iowa, I think, told his story of being a recovering alcoholic. At one of his hardest times he was smudged, with the spiritual water from PL by a beautiful Paiute woman who spoke in her Native language. He said he could not understand a word but it was beautiful and brought him through it all. This morning he sang a song he wrote about a Paiute lady and he dedicated it to our Mrs. Reynelda James. Beautiful song!

News from the Roundhouse

Winter is here, and whether it's snowing or raining, we hope you are keeping warm in your corner of California. We are proud that the new issue of News from Native California is now available.

The cover features Jayden Lim (Pomo) with former First Lady Michelle Obama. The issue is filled with stories about education and traditional knowledge. You can order your printed or digital copy here.

We are also excited to announce that this year marks the 30th anniversary of News from Native California being published. In commemoration of this milestone, we will be publishing a special issue of the magazine this spring. Further, we are set to host events across the state to celebrate with the tribal communities that have been a part of us "Experiencing 30 years of cultural renewal!" We will be posting updates about this soon on newsfromnativecalifornia.com.

If you're out and about in the next few months, you can catch the Roundhouse tabling books at the California Indian Conference on American Indian Education in Palm Springs on March 12-14, and at the Yomen Spring Celebration at the Maidu Museum & Historic Site in Roseville on April 29.

Heyday's Publishing Internship Program

Heyday's volunteer internship program is intended to give interns marketable publishing skills and to offer an introduction to the publishing process. Internships may be offered in the areas described below, depending on project needs at the time.

"Heyday is an admirable organization and I appreciated the opportunity to contribute to and learn from a company that does such wonderful things. My supervisors really made an effort to give me important, interesting tasks beyond the menial work that characterizes most internships." — Gina, Sales & Marketing intern, Summer 2004

"I began my internship asking myself: Can I see myself doing this later in life? I knew very little about publishing when I began, only the basics. Heyday successfully introduced me to the life of a publisher and much more. When I came to work, I not only looked forward to learning, but also helping a unique and important institute preserve and foster California's legacy." — Sarah, Sales & Marketing intern, Summer 2009

Sales & Marketing

Heyday offers internship opportunities in the sales/marketing department. Interns will be directly involved with all aspects of these departments and have hands-on experience with marketing one of our key titles. For more information, download a detailed description of Heyday's Sales & Marketing Internship Program here.

We ask that interns commit to work with us for twelve hours per week for a three-month period: fall (mid-September through mid-December); winter/spring (February through April); or summer (June through August). Longer internships (4-6 months) are also available with the marketing department. Course credit can be arranged for university and college students.

Applications for Fall 2016 are now being accepted.

Please send your résumé and a cover letter explaining your interest in an internship in publishing to: Internship Program Coordinator internship@heydaybooks.com

FOCUS: Trial Balloon for a Coup?

Yonatan Zunger, Medium

Zunger writes: "The administration is testing the extent to which the DHS (and other executive agencies) can act and ignore orders from the other branches of government. This is as serious as it can possibly get: all of the arguments about whether order X or Y is unconstitutional mean nothing if elements of the government are executing them and the courts are being ignored."

Memorandum

To: Chiefs of Staff, Bureaus and Offices

From: Julie Lillie, Director, Office of Executive Secretariat and Regulatory Affairs Julie Lillie

Subject: Federal Register Documents and Correspondence Clearance Procedures

As we begin a new administration, it is important that the incoming policy team has an opportunity to review documents. Effective immediately, and in addition to your internal clearance processes, all Federal Register documents, including all notices, and all correspondence to or from the Secretary must be forwarded to the Office of the Executive Secretariat and Regulatory Affairs (OES) for review 5 days prior to any deadline for Departmental clearance, regardless of signature level. For Federal Register notices this includes, but is not limited to:

- any proposed or final regulation or policy action,
- notices of all meetings, including tribal consultation meetings,
- all notices related to NEPA documents
- information collection notices,
- FWS notices of low effect applications for permits,
- BLM notices of plat surveys, and
- BOEM quarterly notices of environmental documents prepared for the Gulf of Mexico Outer Continental Shelf.

In addition to the above, all incoming congressional and gubernatorial correspondence as well as correspondence from Indian or Alaska tribal leaders and leaders from national level environment/recreational and industry organizations must be forwarded to OES prior to responding, regardless of addressee or signature level. No correspondence should be cleared to go to Congress or to any Governor until it has been reviewed by the Acting Chief of Staff and/or Senior White House Advisor. The OES will be responsible for tasking these letters for response.

The incoming leadership team will decide whether to continue or modify these instructions.
