The citizenry of the world have spoken. Time to bury the dinosaur that is "Big Oil" and keep petroleum in the ground. Harvesting, refinement, transportation, and manufacturing of petroleum-based products like plastics, fuels, and cosmetics are archaic and killing our planet and ourselves. We have cheaper and better alternatives for the people and the planet, available right now. Once you factor in environmental disaster cleanup, insurance payouts, and law enforcement response to environmental outrage....

SB. 105-Change Columbus Day to Indigenous Peoples Day

February 17, 2017 – Nevada State Legislature

Testimony of Dr. Debra Harry, on behalf of the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe

Good Afternoon, Mr. Chair, Senator Segerblom, and members of the Committee,

My name is Dr. Debra Harry, I am speaking on behalf of the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe, where I current serve as the Tribe's Business Officer. I have also served as Adjunct Faculty for the Gender, Race, and Identity Program at UNR since 2013. The Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe supports bill SB105.

In my university courses, my students study the meticulous work of historian David Stannard, Professor of History at the University of Hawaii, Manoa, and author of the book American Holocaust: The conquest of the New World.

I quote:

“Just twenty-one years after Columbus's first landing in the Caribbean, the vastly populous island that the explorer had re-named Hispaniola was effectively desolate; nearly 8,000,000 people- those Columbus chose to call Indians-had been killed by violence, disease, and despair.

By the time the sixteenth century had ended, perhaps 200,000 Spaniards had moved their lives to the Indies, Mexico, Central America, and points further south. In contrast, approximately 60,000,000 to 80,000,000 natives from those lands were dead. Even then, the carnage was not over.”

Consider the magnitude of 60 to 80 million Indigenous Peoples killed, often by the most violent and horrific means.

Despite this history, Indigenous peoples are still here and continue to not only survive, but to thrive. We have fought for our place in human society, on the domestic and international levels. The passage of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples on September 13, 2007 is testament to the recognition of the unique rights of Indigenous Peoples, separate and apart from other sectors of society.

Back to my students. Once they learn a bit of real history, they ask, Why was this not part of my school curricula?” And, they ask, “Why are we celebrating the horrific acts of genocide committed by Columbus and his Spanish soldiers?”

Our Indigenous children are students in our public schools and every year they are typically subjected to school curricula that continues to celebrate Columbus Day. Today, we ask you to reverse decades and centuries of oppression of Indigenous Peoples. You can seize an opportunity to tell the rest of the country the historical page has turned for Columbus in Nevada, joining at least five other states including Alaska, Hawaii, Oregon, Vermont, and South Dakota, and numerous cities and counties around the country. We can signal a change in our educational system to develop curricula that recognizes all students with truth and dignity.

The point of official holidays is to convey the importance of the values and the traditions that are important for a society to reinforce with current generations, and to transmit to future generations. Let’s celebrate the original people of this land, and replace Columbus Day with Indigenous Peoples Day.

Pesa mu.

Debra Harry, Ph.D.

Thank you Debra! ~ Vinton
