Yesterday (1.12) the camp was visited by a herd of Buffalo. With the oncoming task of camp movement, the sign from the Tatanka sighting seemed to indicate, at least to me, the future of the camp is heading in a great direction.

Circle of Blue (Water News)

$1.2 billion Amount in damages claimed by businesses and individuals after a contractor working for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency triggered a spill of toxic mine waste into Colorado's Animas River in 2015. The EPA announced last Friday that it is legally unable to pay those claims. Reuters

$US 2.2 billion: Estimated five-year cost of health care benefits for veterans sickened by drinking water at Camp Lejeune. More than 14,000 veterans and reservists are assumed to have one of the eight diseases that will be covered by the settlement. (U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs)

The base's drinking water was contaminated with four volatile organic chemicals that were discovered in the water supply in the 1980s. Officials determined that eight diseases, including Parkinson's, liver cancer, bladder cancer, and non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, are strongly connected to exposure to the chemicals. The settlement confers health care benefits to military, reservist, or National Guard members who served 30 days or more at the base between August 1, 1953, and December 31, 1987, and have been diagnosed with one of the eight diseases.

$US 4 million: Grants to two research universities — Drexel and Purdue — for water quality studies. Researchers will investigate the potential that less water flowing through pipes in homes and buildings because of conservation could result in microbial contamination in standing water. Follow the link for full descriptions of the projects. (U.S. Environmental Protection Agency)

$US 12.7 million: Grants to organizations to help rural water systems and household well owners with technical questions, financial management, and water testing. (EPA)

Water Infrastructure Program Is Open for Business

The EPA is now accepting loan applications for WIFIA, the new water infrastructure lending program. The agency expects to finance up to $US 1 billion worth of projects. Both public utilities and private businesses are eligible to apply. Critics of the program say that the government should not be subsidizing private companies.

8: Number of weather disasters in 2016 that caused $US 1 billion in damages, including record rainfall in Louisiana in August that killed 13 people. (NOAA)

8: Number of drinking water regulations, out of 88, that are candidates for revision. The EPA reviews its rules every six years in light of new technology, data, or analytical techniques. (EPA)

Cabinet Confirmation Hearings Scheduled

Three hearings take place this week for cabinet positions related to water. All will be webcast.

The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee will question Ryan Zinke, the nominee to head the Interior Department, on January 17 at 2:15 p.m. Eastern. Zinke is a Montana congressman. Here's the biographical questionnaire the committee asked him to fill out.

Then on January 18 at 10:00 a.m. Eastern, the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee vets Scott Pruitt, the EPA nominee. Pruitt is the Oklahoma Attorney General.

Financial Rules for Hardrock Mining

The EPA finally published in the Federal Register draft financial rules for the hardrock mining industry. The rules are designed to ensure that mining companies set aside enough money to clean up environmental damage. Analysts say that the rules will increase costs for companies.

Publishing the draft rules in the register triggers the public comment period. Comments are being accepted through March at www.regulations.gov using docket number EPA-HQ-SFUND-2015-0781.

Support for Children Impacted by Domestic Violence

Weyerhaeuser Family Foundation Children's Initiative

The Weyerhaeuser Family Foundation's Children's Initiative provides support to direct service programs throughout the United States that create and promote stability, resilience, and healing for children who have witnessed domestic violence. Eligible programs must directly serve children up to 14 years of age who have witnessed domestic violence, be centered on evidence-based strategies or an innovative approach, include a plan for an outcome-based assessment of the program activities, enhance the relationship between the child and parent/primary caregiver, and be a new program (within the first year of development). The average grant size is $25,000. The deadline for Stage One Applications is March 1, 2017; invited Stage Two Applications are due August 1, 2017. Visit the Foundation's website to learn more about the funding guidelines and application process.

Pain Medication Management Initiatives Funded

Cardinal Health Foundation: Generation Rx Program

The Cardinal Health Foundation is committed to helping communities address prescription drug misuse. The goal of the Foundation's Generation Rx Program, Best Practices in Pain Medication Use and Patient Engagement, is to engage patients and their healthcare providers in reducing the number of opioids prescribed for pain management, while producing better patient outcomes and better pain management. Applications will be accepted from nonprofit organizations throughout the U.S., and are encouraged from community health centers; federally qualified health centers; hospitals or other healthcare institutions; pharmacy, prescriber, or healthcare provider associations; and substance misuse prevention groups. Grants will range up to $35,000. Online applications are due February 27, 2017. Visit the Foundation's website to download the application materials.

Grants Promote Professional Development for Computer Science Teachers

Google Computer Science for High School

Google Computer Science for High School (CS4HS) is an annual program dedicated to improving the computer science (CS) educational ecosystem by funding computer science education experts to provide exemplary CS professional development for teachers. The funding focuses on three major growth areas for teacher professional development in CS: facilitating the development and delivery of content that increases teachers' knowledge of computer science and computational thinking, allowing providers to customize learning content to meet local needs and the sharing of best practices for engaging all students, and addressing the building of communities of practice that continue to support teacher learning throughout the school year. Research institutions, universities, and educational nonprofit organizations such as professional development organizations, school districts, and local offices of education are eligible to propose professional development opportunities for their local school teachers. The application deadline is March 19, 2017. Visit the CS4HS website to submit an online application.

Contemporary Visual Arts Programs Supported

The Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts

The purpose of the Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts is to foster innovative artistic expression and the creative process by supporting cultural organizations that, in turn, support artists and their work. Grants are provided to curatorial programs at museums, artists' organizations, and other cultural institutions to originate innovative and scholarly presentations of contemporary visual arts. Projects may include exhibitions, catalogues, and other relevant activities. Proposals that highlight women, artists of color, and under-represented practitioners are encouraged. The Foundation has designated one of its grants, The Wynn Kramarsky Freedom of Artistic Expression Award, to recognize the work of organizations with a deep-seated commitment to defending the First Amendment rights of artists. The next postmark deadline for proposals to the Foundation is March 1, 2017. Visit the Foundation's website to review the grant guidelines.

Funds for Organizations in Company Communities

Georgia-Pacific Foundation

The Georgia-Pacific Foundation supports a wide range of nonprofit organizations that improve the quality of life in communities where Georgia-Pacific operates, and where company employees live and work. The Foundation has identified the following key investment areas: Education, including college scholarships, K-12 public schools, workforce development, and literacy; Community Enrichment, including affordable housing, arts and culture, youth enrichment programs, employee volunteerism, and safety programs; Environment, including resource conservation, environmental education, recycling, and clean air/clean water; and Entrepreneurship, especially youth entrepreneur education and capacity building programs for women and minority small businesses. Grant requests are reviewed on a rolling cycle throughout the year. (Early submission is encouraged.) Visit www.gpfoundation.info to submit an online application.

Grants Assist At-Risk Youth in Oregon and Washington

Silver Family Foundation

The Silver Family Foundation supports nonprofit organizations in Oregon and Washington that work with at-risk youth. The Foundation's Transitional Youth Development Grant Program provides funds to organizations that offer in-depth, long-term investments and opportunities for motivated, low-income youth. Priority is given to organizations that work in the areas of mentorship, high school completion, college and post-secondary preparation, and experiential education. Letters of inquiry may be submitted throughout the year; invited proposals are due March 31 and September 30, annually. Visit the Foundation's website to review the grant guidelines.

Capacity Building Support for Kansas Healthcare Organizations

Sunflower Foundation: Capacity Building Grants

The mission of the Sunflower Foundation is to serve as a catalyst for improving the health of Kansans. The Foundation's 2017 Capacity Building Request for Proposals (RFP) will support nonprofit organizations that provide healthcare and prevention services to low-income, uninsured, and other vulnerable populations throughout the state. Capacity Building Grants are available to address organizational needs in three priority areas: Technology, Training and Education, and Media Messaging and Communication. Grants of up to $30,000 will be provided. Online applications may be submitted through February 15, 2017. Visit the Foundation's website to download the RFP.

Senior Services Programs Funded in Seven States

Retirement Research Foundation: Responsive Grants Program

The Retirement Research Foundation is committed to supporting programs that improve the quality of life for older Americans. Through the Responsive Grants Program, the Foundation awards Direct Service grants to nonprofit organizations located in Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Missouri, or Wisconsin. The focus is on community programs designed to maintain older persons in their homes, supportive services to older persons in residential settings, improving the quality of nursing home care, acute- and long-term care for older persons with chronic conditions, and opportunities for older adults to engage in meaningful roles in society such as employment and volunteerism. Grants are provided for developing, testing, and implementing direct service programs or expanding existing programs. (Advocacy, training, and research projects, all with national relevance, are considered from organizations located anywhere in the U.S.) The proposal deadlines are February 1, May 1, and August 1, annually. Visit the Foundation's Responsive Grants webpage at www.rrf.org/grants/responsive-grants to learn more about the funding guidelines and application procedure.
