It's not the first time the banks have been besieged by activists -- and it probably won't be the last.

Judge Awards Atlantic Sunrise Pipeline Builder Rights to Seize Last 5 Holdout Properties, Including Nun's Land

Builders of the Atlantic Sunrise Pipeline now possess the five remaining holdout properties in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, following a federal judge's decision Wednesday.

The ruling from Judge Jeffrey Schmehl granted Transcontinental Pipe Line Co.'s (Transco) motion to condemn the rights of way on the properties and granted the company immediate possession of the land, Lancaster Online reports. This includes land owned by the Adorers of the Blood of Christ near the town of Columbia.

responsibility. Using a customized scoring system, Sierra's researchers ranked the universities based on their commitment to upholding high environmental standards.

"We continue to be inspired by the creative and innovative ways colleges and universities across the country are working to tackle the climate crisis and move toward a sustainable future," said Jason Mark, Sierra magazine's editor in chief. "From powering campuses with clean energy to educating students on new methods of sustainability, it is this leadership that is driving positive change and helping to shape a future that is clean, just and equitable for all."

Sierra magazine's top 20 schools of 2017 are:

1. College of the Atlantic (Bar Harbor, ME)
2. Green Mountain College (Poultney, VT)
3. Sterling College (Craftsbury Common, VT)
4. State University of New York College of Environmental Science and Forestry (Syracuse, NY)
5. Lewis & Clark College (Portland, OR)
6. Loyola Marymount University (Los Angeles, CA)
7. Arizona State University (Tempe, AZ)
8. University of California, Irvine (Irvine, CA)
9. Colby College (Waterville, ME)
10. University of San Diego (San Diego, CA)
11. Colorado State University (Fort Collins, CO)
12. Middlebury College (Middlebury, VT)
13. Harvard University (Cambridge, MA)
14. Chatham University (Pittsburgh, PA)
15. Colgate University (Hamilton, NY)
16. Loyola University Chicago (Chicago, IL)
17. University of the Pacific (Stockton, CA)
18. George Washington University (Washington, DC)
19. Oberlin College (Oberlin, OH)
20. Oregon State University (Corvallis, OR)

This is the second consecutive year College of the Atlantic has ranked number one, thanks in large part to its commitment to work toward a 100 percent sustainable energy future. In addition, three of this year's top 20 schools are in cities that have committed to 100 percent clean energy with the Sierra Club's Ready For 100 campaign, and presidents from 14 of the top 20 schools signed the We Are Still In pledge to show their commitment to the Paris agreement.

Many of this year's top 20 colleges and universities were top-ranking in individual categories, including: Green Mountain College for green curriculum; the State University of New York College of Environmental Science and Forestry for green innovation; Loyola Marymount University for sustainable water usage; and Colby College for renewable energy. In addition, a number of states saw high numbers of universities featured on this year's list, including California with 27 schools, New York with 21 schools, Pennsylvania with 16 schools, Massachusetts with 12 schools, and Ohio, Texas and North Carolina each with 10 schools.

"Year after year, we continue to see young people leading the fight against the climate crisis and toward a 100 percent sustainable future. That's why students across the U.S. and in Puerto Rico are pushing their high schools and colleges to not only divest from fossil fuels but to commit to 100 percent localized clean energy," said Karissa Gerhke, national director of the Sierra Student Coalition. "The Sierra Student Coalition applauds these leaders and their schools for their innovation and leadership, and we look forward to working with them as they continue to do this important work."

The full ranking of 227 colleges and universities, including each school's completed questionnaire, is online at www.sierraclub.org/coolschools.

Discovery Near San Diego Freeway Shows Humans Were in America 100,000 Years Earlier Than We Thought: Study

The remains of a mastodon discovered during a routine freeway excavation in San Diego shows there was human activity in North America 130,000 years ago -- or about 115,000 years earlier than previously thought. Paleontologists with the San Diego Natural History Museum discovered the remains of the a...

This process revealed an astonishing apparent truth: the remains found at Jebel Irhoud are the oldest examples of Homo sapiens bones ever discovered. And because they are substantially older than any specimens previously studied, they have forced scientists to reconsider everything they believed about human evolution.

"That was a big 'Wow,'" Hublin said in a June 2017 interview with the LA Times. "The new dates convinced us that this material represented the very root of our species." Furthermore, in two papers published in June 2017, Hublin and his colleagues detailed the incredible significance of their finds.

Speaking about how these discoveries could change the accepted view of human evolution, Hublin explained, "Our results challenge this picture in a number of ways. There is no Garden of Eden in Africa, or if there is a Garden of Eden, it's Africa. The Garden of Eden is the size of Africa."

Dear Colleague Letter

Re: Fiscal Year 2017 Assets for Independence Program Funding

Date: August 7, 2017

Dear Colleague:

On May 5, 2017, the fiscal year (FY) 2017 Consolidated Appropriations Act (H.R. 244) was signed into law under Public Law 115-31. This Act provided funding to the United States Department of Health and Human Services for operations through September 30, 2017. The Act did not include funding for the Assets for Independence (AFI) program.

Impact on Applications

Due to the lack of FY 2017 funding for the AFI program, the Administration of Children and Families (ACF) will not be making new grant awards for the AFI program. Organizations that submitted applications for AFI funding in October 2016 will receive letters indicating that no grants will be awarded due to a lack of AFI program funds and ACF will not be accepting new applications for AFI funding for FY 2017. Additionally, the AFI Resource Center will no longer be providing technical assistance related to applying for AFI program funds.

Impact on Existing Awards

AFI grants awarded in FY 2016 and before are not affected by the FY 2017 appropriation, as the total award amount was obligated for those grants at the time that they were made.

Organizations operating AFI projects with existing grants are responsible for continuing to operate those projects for the funded project period indicated on the notice of grant award.

Thank you. Lynda E. Pérez , Director, Division of Community Discretionary and Demonstration Program

Standing Rock united people from all over the world - A prayer for Mni Wiconi: Water is Sacred, Water Is Life, igniting a powerful global stand uniting Indigenous Nations and all people. This historic movement is reminding us, with clarity, of the necessity of protecting pristine environments and traditional homelands for future generations.

We continue to stand for each other, our earth and the restoration of human values.

THE POWER OF PRAYER creates a sacred space for the Standing Rock spirit to be present at Burning Man. We are inviting the global movement to the temporary metropolis of Black Rock City, created by more than 70,000 people who come together to reach a peak human experience. The intention of the project is to amplify the voices and messages of wisdom keepers and tribal members from across Turtle Island. Our intention is to listen to their teachings and stories, to connect with each other through song and the beat of the drum, dance and celebrate what brings us together as human beings. At the heart of the vision is our commitment to support cultural restoration and the provision of grants to create cultural artifacts, including teepees, traditional seating and drums. We wish to encourage creative tribal participation on many levels, and facilitate a space for First Nations representatives. THE POWER OF PRAYER shares tribal wisdom not just in the Burning Man community, but in all of participating society, and the world at large.

Red Lightning, a Burning Man group, (redlightning.org/standingrock/) is creating a medicine wheel tipi circle around sacred fire to host this prayer. Creating a space for us all to come together in circle in council, storytelling, song, drum, dance and celebration on the esplanade.

Come pray with us on the playa, or engage with us online. We are still seeking funding and support to bring this vision to fruition, click here to support.

On Tuesday, August 29th at 6:30 PM at 8:15 and Esplanade, we will gather in a drum circle around sacred fire, where tribal beats will amplify across Burning Man's best sound-system through the well-known art car Mayan Warrior, joining us all the way from Mexico City. The drumming prayer circle will be streamed at 7:00 PM, we will come into prayer led by wisdom keepers.
