National Funding

Support for Collaborative Arts Projects Advancing Muslim/Non-Muslim Understanding Doris Duke Charitable Foundation: Building Bridges Grants Program

The Building Bridges Grants Program, an initiative of the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation, supports nonprofit organizations in the planning and implementation of projects that engage U.S.-based Muslim and non-Muslim populations in arts- and culture-based experiences that contribute toward a greater well-being among people. Proposed projects should offer engaging literary, media, and/or performing arts experiences to foster relationships and understanding between communities. Grants will range from $25,000 to $300,000 over one to three years. Applying organizations must have annual operating expenses greater than $100,000, of which at least $25,000 is dedicated to professional arts- or media arts-based programming. Letters of interest are due September 8, 2017. Visit the Foundation's website to learn more about the Building Bridges Grants Program and to submit an online letter of interest.

HIV/AIDS Service Programs Funded

Elizabeth Taylor AIDS Foundation

The Elizabeth Taylor AIDS Foundation supports nonprofit organizations that deliver direct care and services to people living with HIV and AIDS, often to the most marginalized populations. Applying organizations must have at least three years experience in delivering HIV/AIDS programs. Grant request amounts generally should not exceed $25,000. The letter of intent deadline for U.S. nonprofit organizations offering direct services is September 8, 2017. Interested applicants may email the Grants Director at LelaHung@etaf.org to request the guidelines for a letter of intent. (The letter of intent deadline for prevention and advocacy programs for 2017 is now closed; 2018 guidelines and deadline dates will be available on the Foundation's website later in the year.)

Grants Address National Environmental Issues

Henry Phillip Kraft Family Memorial Fund in The New York Community Trust

The Henry Phillip Kraft Family Memorial Fund, administered by The New York Community Trust, supports environmental projects of national and international significance. Grants from the Fund are made to mitigate climate change; make communities, especially the most disadvantaged, more resilient to a changing climate; protect public health from the hazards of toxic pollutants; and preserve biological diversity through habitat conservation. With the exception of those focused on New York State, all projects must benefit more than one U.S. state or territory to be considered. The letter of inquiry window will open on September 18, 2017, for three weeks. Visit the New York Community Trust's website to review the grantmaking guidelines.

Black and Latino Leadership in Education Initiatives Supported

NewSchools Venture Fund: Diverse Leaders

The mission of NewSchools Venture Fund is to reimagine public education through powerful ideas and passionate entrepreneurs so that all children – especially those in underserved communities – have the opportunity to succeed. The Fund's Diverse Leaders program invests in entrepreneurs with ambitious ideas focused on advancing Black and Latino senior leadership in education. Ideas may include efforts to attract, recruit, develop, retain, and/or place diverse senior leaders. While priority is given to early-stage ventures, NewSchools will also consider investing in existing organizations launching new initiatives. Nonprofit organizations and social entrepreneurs are eligible to apply for one-year grants ranging from $75,000 to $150,000, depending on the stage of the organization or idea. The application deadline is September 15, 2017. Visit the NewSchools website to learn more about the Diverse Leaders program.

Funds for Programs Enhancing the Health of Kansans

Kansas Health Foundation: Impact and Capacity Grants Initiative

The mission of the Kansas Health Foundation is to improve the health of all Kansans. The Foundation's Impact and Capacity Grants Initiative funds efforts that address the Foundation's goal of reducing health disparities in the state. This initiative offers two grant categories: Impact Grants focus on efforts to increase access to care, decrease tobacco use, increase physical activity, increase healthy food access, and increase civic engagement. Capacity-Building Grants focus on efforts to enhance an organization's leadership, management, relationships, communications, programs, and evaluations. Priority is given to organizations targeting Kansans with the greatest need and least access/economic opportunity. Grants in both categories range up to $25,000. The application deadline is September 15, 2017. Visit the Foundation's website to learn more about both the Impact and Capacity Grants Initiative.

Grants Advance Environmental Programs in New England

William P. Wharton Trust

The William P. Wharton Trust supports nonprofit organizations that promote the conservation, study, and appreciation of nature. Grants are primarily made to organizations in New England, with an emphasis on Massachusetts. The Trust's funding objectives in order of priority are as follows: natural areas preservation in Massachusetts and New England, including funding acquisition of land for conservation purposes; management techniques designed to improve environmental quality and species diversity; bird and forestry research and management, especially at the applied level rather than the theoretical or molecular level; and creation of materials or projects designed to foster an appreciation of and a concern for wildlife and natural systems. The upcoming deadline for preliminary applications is September 15, 2017. Visit the Trust's website to review the application instructions.

Revenue-Generating Nonprofits in Arizona, Colorado, Minnesota, and Utah Recognized

The Eide Bailly Resourcefulness Award

The Eide Bailly Resourcefulness Award recognizes nonprofit organizations in Arizona, Colorado, Minnesota, and Utah that have created impactful initiatives to generate sustainable streams of revenue. Each submission will be evaluated on the following categories: Creativity, Implementation, Impact, Sustainability, and Overall Impression. One Grand Prize of $10,000 and two Runner-Up Prizes of $2,500 will be awarded in each participating state. Nonprofit organizations in any field are eligible to apply. Applications will be accepted from August 14 through September 8, 2017. Visit the Eide Bailly website to learn more about the application process.

Support for Reading Programs and Libraries in Ohio

Buckeye Book Fair: Literacy Grants

Through the Literacy Grants program, the Buckeye Book Fair provides support to Ohio reading programs, public libraries, and elementary and secondary school libraries by offering gift certificates of up to $500 to enhance their book collections or up to $1,000 for an author visit. The author visit and free book awards are issued exclusively in conjunction with Ohio's 2017 Buckeye Book Fair. Priority is given to applicants who can show new and creative ways to improve literacy or encourage reading within a specific group and can demonstrate financial need. The application deadline is September 10, 2017. Visit the Buckeye Book Fair's website to learn more about the Literacy Grants program.

This June marked the 111th anniversary of the Antiquities Act, used by Presidents to protect lands of natural, cultural or historical importance. But in a matter of days, Secretary of the Interior Ryan Zinke stands to destroy that 111-year-legacy of conservation. Secretary Zinke has until August 24, to make his final recommendations to eliminate or reduce 21 of your national monuments. The public comment period on this decision is over, but it's not too late to make your voice heard. Please tell Congress to uphold protections for national monuments.

Zinke already recommended that the boundaries of Bear's Ears National Monument should be reduced—and there's no telling what he'll attack next. But Congress can still act to save Bear's Ears and other monuments. Americans of all political backgrounds overwhelmingly support the protection of public lands, so this is a fight we can win. Stand with The Trust for Public Land and sign your petition to your elected leaders today.

Together we can conserve land for people now and for the future. Thanks for keeping up the fight!

Sincerely, Kim Elliot, Director, Annual Giving

Good morning friends and colleagues! The third edition of the Global NGO Technology Survey is now live. For 2017, we added Arabic and Portuguese (in addition to English, French, and Spanish) to increase the diversity and geographical range of survey respondents. We also expanded our partnerships to include 12 fantastic organizations who will be promoting the survey to NGOs, nonprofits, and charities throughout the globe.

We are trying to do something big with this report – to expand research and benchmarks useful to NGOs, nonprofits, and charities worldwide and we can't do it without your participation. The survey data will become the foundation of the 2018 Global NGO Technology Report and the report will only be as good as the data it represents.

So, if you work for a NGO, nonprofit, or charity, please volunteer 4-7 minutes of your time to complete the survey. Thank you very much! Take the Survey

ELEVATE YOUR VOICE & UNITE WITH US!

Survivors of domestic and sexual violence, advocates and other professionals who provide services to survivors face challenges daily. Our strength lies in uniting our voices to reinforce the ideals, the passion for our work, and our depth of character to conquer oppression and violence. In these challenging times, we cannot keep silent hoping for change, but must join together with those who are striving to live violence-free. This year's conference will elevate our voices as a united community, a culture, and as a state in thought-provoking discussions about taking action to not only sustain, but also to help our organizations flourish.
