If you think you're having a bad day when you get up and splash water on your face, just remember it wasn't too long ago when your family was also carrying water. Millions still do.

Minnesota DNR approves changing Lake Calhoun to Bde Maka Ska

The name change, approved by the DNR today, now has to be approved by the federal government. The department's decision follows resolutions passed by the Hennepin County Board and the Minneapolis Park and Recreation Board.

Nearly one year ago, more than 10,000 Nevadans took to the streets of Downtown Reno for the Women's March. That historic day kicked off a year of incredible, inspiring activism and organizing to resist Trump's anti-woman, anti-immigrant, anti-native (pretty much anti-everything we love) agenda! And next week, we're going to do it again!

Please join us for the Reno Women's March Saturday January 20th. We'll start at the Federal Building at 11:30am.

On Friday January 19th, please join us for a poster making party. Click here to view the event on Facebook. We'll meet at the PLAN office (203 South Arlington Avenue, 89101) from 4:00pm-6:00pm. Bring your creative ideas!

Saturday January 20th we'll meet at the PLAN office at 9:30am for a light breakfast before the march. We'll head over to the march kick off at 10:30am. See the event on Facebook.

I look forward to seeing you at the Women's March!

Pope has tough words for indigenous, Chile during Mass

TEMUCO, Chile (AP) - Pope Francis took the Chilean state and the country's largest indigenous group to task Wednesday over their failure to forge a truly unified nation, saying the government must do more than just negotiate "elegant" agreements and radical Mapuche factions must stop violence. Francis' pointed homily in the heart of Chile's restive Araucania region came hours after two more churches and three helicopters were torched - attacks bl...

Opinion - KRRC liaison breaks down dam removal

Dave Meurer, The Herald and News

Removal of four dams along the Klamath River — J.C. Boyle, Copco 1 and 2, and Iron Gate Dam — by non-profit Klamath River Renewal Corporation (KRRC), will need to be paired with a long-term agreement in order to solve long-term water quality issues for the Klamath River.

Save the Snowpack, Save the Water Supply

Daniel Rothberg, Bloomberg

Between droughts and floods, the last decade has offered water managers in the southwest a preview of how climate change could impact a supply largely dependent on winter snow.

National Parks Advisory Board Members Quit over Administration Disinterest: Congress chartered the National Park Service Advisory Board (NPSAB) in 1935 as a 12-member group dedicated to helping the National Park Service (NPS). The current board was appointed by President Obama and represents the geographical breadth of the US and a range of research disciplines. This week, 10 of the 12 members quit, citing Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke's unwillingness to meet. Former Alaska Governor Tony Knowles said the Department of the Interior "showed no interest in learning about or continuing to use the forward-thinking agenda of science, the effect of climate change, protections of the ecosystems, education."

A 2016 presidential order called for a focus on climate change in managing natural resources in US parks. Park managers were to make decisions based "on science, law and long-term public interest," and park superintendents and other NPS leaders had to "possess scientific literacy appropriate to their positions and resource management decision-making responsibilities." Last August the Trump administration scrapped that order.
