Journal #4077 from sdc 1.24.18

San Francisco swaps Columbus Day for Indigenous Peoples Day ...

Finding California's Climate Past and Future Inside Of Its Trees

Large Dams Fail on Climate Change and Indigenous Rights

Gold is 'false god' fueling 'slavery,' pope says

Greenpeace Slams Coca-Cola Plastic Announcement as 'Dodging the Main Issue'

America Needs a Plastics Intervention. Now's the Time

Nevada Arts Council

New NASA Study Solves Climate Mystery, Confirms Methane Spike Tied to Oil and Gas

Some Interesting Facts About New Mexico

Proposed Nevada wilderness could be Trump-era first

Canada embraces indigenous cuisine, a long-neglected culinary tradition

Solar-Powered RV Runs Without Fuel Or Charging Stations

Benjamin Harrison

How National Monument Designations Can Hurt Native Americans

HistoryBites: She assimilated without losing her traditions

Trahant Reports

Upcoming Dinner Hosting Opportunities

Scientists crack mystery of the Sierra Nevada's age

Found on the South Jetty in Humboldt county, maybe this floated down from Washington or Alaska, Photo credit to RiAnne Elizabeth from Remember in Eureka when...

San Francisco swaps Columbus Day for Indigenous Peoples Day ... https://www.washingtonpost.com/.../san-francisco...day...indigenous...day/.../3f37551a-0...

San Francisco supervisors have replaced Columbus Day with Indigenous Peoples Day, saying they want to honor Native American people and condemn the atrocities they suffered.

FINDING CALIFORNIA'S CLIMATE PAST AND FUTURE INSIDE OF ITS TREES

Daniel Ackerman, Pacific Standard

In order to better understand just how extreme the state's weather has gotten, scientists looked to the ring patterns of 500-year-old oaks.

Large Dams Fail on Climate Change and Indigenous Rights

https://www.ecowatch.com/dams-climate-change-indigenous-rights-2526301213.html?utm_source=EcoWatch+List&utm_campaign=b446808ad7-

EMAIL_CAMPAIGN&utm_medium=email&utm_term=0_49c7d43dc9-b446808ad7-85895669

Gold is 'false god' fueling 'slavery,' pope says. Much of the metal ends up in Miami Miami Herald

Speaking in the Peruvian Amazon Friday, Pope Francis said the region's gold mining industry had become a "false god that demands human sacrifice" that chews up people and nature and "corrupts everything." Read the full story

Greenpeace Slams Coca-Cola Plastic Announcement as 'Dodging the Main Issue' By Louise Edge

Coca-Cola produces more than 110 billion single use plastic bottles each year, and billions of these end up in landfills, rivers and the sea.

https://www.ecowatch.com/greenpeace-coca-cola-2526964744.html?utm_source=EcoWatch %2BList&utm_campaign=d7f443fe9a-

America Needs a Plastics Intervention. Now's the Time

https://www.ecowatch.com/plastic-pollution-america-2525735754.html?utm_source=EcoWatch+List&utm_campaign=d7f443fe9a-

EMAIL_CAMPAIGN&utm_medium=email&utm_term=0_49c7d43dc9-d7f443fe9a-85895669

Only the self-sufficient stand alone - most people follow the crowd and imitate.

~ Bruce Lee

Photo by Rick Derevan, Atascadero, California | Badlands National Park, South Dakota

Nevada Arts Council

Nevada arts organizations can submit applications for Nevada Arts Council grants for fiscal year 2019. These annual awards include: Arts Learning Project Grants, Partners in Excellence Grants, and Project Grants.

Grant applications and award nominations for NAC grants must be submitted through " \underline{GO} \underline{Smart}^{TM} " the new online grants system. This new system requires all applicants to begin the process by setting up a profile.

The Arts Learning Project Grant is a project-based grant designed to support imaginative arts education/learning activities and long-term artist residencies that establish, expand and/or enhance lifelong arts learning and increase cultural awareness. A demonstrated planning process and an ongoing evaluation process by teachers, administrators, staff, artists and the community are considered integral parts of a successful arts education/learning project. Read more

Partners in Excellence Grants strengthen Nevada's arts infrastructure by supporting general operations of cultural organizations and institutions throughout the state. Read more

Project Grants support arts and cultural activities of non-arts organizations and public institutions that are integral to the applicant's overall mission and goals, and achieved through community partnerships. In addition, individuals can submit nominations for the Nevada Heritage Award as well.

Nevada Heritage Awards, presented annually by the Folklife Program of the Nevada Arts Council, recognize and celebrate living cultural treasures: individuals who embody the highest level of artistic achievement and the highest level of service. Their accomplishments assure that folk and traditional arts will continue to be known, valued, and practiced in their families and communities. These awards recognize lifelong commitments to mastering, teaching and sharing traditional culture. Read more Detailed information regarding all Nevada Arts Council grants and FY19 guidelines can be found by clicking on the "Grants" tab above. For more information, contact the Grants Management Team at email or (775) 687-7102.

The Artist Fellowship Program was created to encourage the pursuit of artistic excellence by providing financial support to outstanding artists. Fellowship grants go to contemporary artists living in Nevada in the literary, performing, and visual arts (including media arts), and may be awarded at any stage of the artists' career development. By recognizing and rewarding artistic accomplishment, the Fellowship Program promotes public awareness and appreciation of the role of the artist in our society.

New NASA Study Solves Climate Mystery, Confirms Methane Spike Tied to Oil and https://www.ecowatch.com/nasa-study-methanespike-2526089909.html

David Bobzien RT @ByBenSpillman: #Nevada could be home to first #wilderness designations of the @realDonaldTrump era. https://t.co/pYjECC7QPU / #protectnv #publiclands #publiclandowner

Proposed Nevada wilderness could be Trump-era first

Canada embraces indigenous cuisine, a long-neglected culinary tradition

A handful of indigenous-owned restaurants that have sprung up in Toronto in recent years hint at changing circumstances theguardian.com

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT NEW MEXICO

- 1- NM has more cows than people
- 2- About 75 % of NM's roads are unpaved
- 3- It's one of the youngest states although we have the oldest continuously inhabited towns on the continent
- 4- Santa Fe was founded 10 years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth
- 5- You can see five different states from the top of Capulin volcano: Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and of course, New Mexico
- 6- Santa Fe is the nation's highest capital (I hope they mean in elevation since marijuana is now legal in Denver, Colorado)
- 7- NM has more PhDs per capita than any other state.
- 8- Taos Pueblo has been inhabited for over a thousand years
- 9- NM is wine country. By the late 1800s, NM was THE wine producing region in the United States. Today, there are over 50 wineries
- You cannot legally dance in NM while wearing a sombrero
- 11- Idiots are not allowed to vote. The NM Constitution officially bars "idiots" from voting. At the time, the term had a different meaning. A mentally ill person. It would be nice if the Constitution also barred idiots from running for office.

Kay McNeer shared I am New Mexico's post.

I am New Mexico

This Solar-Powered RV Runs Without Fuel Or Charging Stations

A German motorhome company has unveiled an RV that's built for the open road with a sleek design and head-to-toe solar panels so you never have to worry... greenmatters.com

Question: What is the weight of the average cumulus cloud?

- 1. 8.2 billion pounds
- 2. 2500 pounds
- 3. 1.1 million pounds
- 4. 710 pounds

"I yearn to be of the stars. We are all stardust, after all, having been created from jetsam of the Big Bang."

A.J. Ullman; Drifting Falling; Moonshine Cove Publishing; 2017.

from delanceyplace.com

Today's selection -- from Benjamin Harrison by Charles W. Calhoun. America's first imperial conquest was the islands of Samoa:

"In 1878 the United States had entered into a treaty of friendship and commerce with Samoa whereby it gained the right to deposit coal for American vessels at Pago Pago. In return, the United States agreed to use its good offices in behalf of Samoa in disputes with foreign powers. Paying heed to this latter provision, successive American administrations grew increasingly wary of greater British and especially German influence in the islands. The accelerating antagonism among the foreign powers was compounded by fight-ing between rival factions of Samoans. By the late 1880s, German aggressions against the government of Samoa brought Germany and the United States to the brink of war, but in the final weeks of the Cleveland administration, German chancellor Otto von Bismarck moved to allay the crisis by inviting the other two powers to discuss the issue at a conference in Berlin. The effort for a negoti-ated settlement received an unexpected boost when a hurricane at Samoa destroyed most of the naval vessels on the scene and several merchant ships as well. ...

German, British and American warships in Apia Harbor, Samoa, 1899.

"The administration's sine qua non for the conference was the preservation of an independent Samoan nation under the leadership of a king of the people's own choosing. Harrison and Blaine also instructed the American delegates to resist any agreement that dero-gated U.S. rights at Pago Pago. Moreover, they should guard against any move by the other powers to dominate Samoa. Such dominance would threaten the interests of the United States, especially its grow-ing trade with the East, which was bound to develop even more with the eventual opening of a ship canal through Central America. Harri-son regarded an earlier Cleveland administration proposal, which called for the three foreign powers to name a cabinet of three secre-taries for the king, as 'not in harmony with the established policy' of the American government. Still, he promised to 'give weighty con-sideration to whatever plan the conference may suggest.' In the end, he accepted what amounted to a joint protectorate over Samoa, exercised by the United States, Britain, and Germany.

"By mid-June, the conference put the finishing touches on a settle-ment, known as the General Act of Berlin. Designed to check in ternational rivalry and ostensibly secure Samoa's independence, the act was an assumption of sovereignty in all but name by the three powers. It restored King Malietoa Laupepa to power, but it also provided for the three powers to appoint a chief justice, the presi-dent of the municipal council of the port city of Apia, and other officials.

The act also instituted a variety of taxes, including import and export duties, license fees, and capitation levies.

"It was a momentous step. The administration had halted Ger-man expansion, but never before had the United States accepted responsibility for the government of a people beyond its own conti-nent. Equally extraordinary, the United States found itself in the sort of 'entanglement' with European powers that for a century it had steadfastly shunned. Nonetheless, Blaine was ecstatic over 'our complete success at Berlin,' and Harrison hoped the act would be 'productive of the permanent establishment of law and order in Samoa.' Unfortunately, the diplomatic triumph fell short in imple-mentation. The powers had difficulty finding suitable persons to fill the posts of chief justice and municipal council president, and the natives resisted the regime. Britain, Germany, and the United States had to keep warships present to ensure the enforcement of the chief justice's orders and the collection of taxes. By 1899, the situa-tion had grown so irksome that Germany and the United States agreed to divide the islands between them."

Benjamin Harrison: The American Presidents Series: The 23rd President, 1889-1893

Author: Charles W. Calhoun Publisher: Times Books Copyright 2005 by Charles

W. Calhoun Pages: 77-79

William Harrison: Life Before the Presidency | Miller Center

https://millercenter.org/president/harrison/life-before-the-presidency

William Henry Harrison served as governor of the Indiana Territory for twelve years. He speculated in land, invested in two mill enterprises, and had a reputation as an honest administrator. To his credit, he was instrumental in improving the roads and other infrastructure in the region. However, the primary task charged to ...

Benjamin Harrison: The American Presidents Series: The 23rd ...

https://books.google.com/books?isbn=1466860812

Charles W. Calhoun, Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr. - 2013 - Biography & Autobiography Harrison since Civil War days, presented a thirty—three—page report that described the government's dealings with the Indians but also attributed much of their resistance to an understandable discontent over the destruction of their way of life. "Those guilty of actual deeds of hostility should be punished," Morgan wrote, but ...

Benjamin Harrison: Centennial President

https://books.google.com/books?isbn=160021066X

Anne Chieko Moore, Hester Anne Hale - 2006 - Biography & Autobiography

Under President Harrison's administration, the last of the Indian wars occurred in South Dakota. The Great Sioux reservation had been reduced drastically, and in the 1880s, a Paiute shaman, Wovoka, began a religious movement, the Ghost Dance, that offered hope to the Indians. They were told that bullets would be ...

Indians 101: President Benjamin Harrison and Indian Education

https://www.dailykos.com/.../-Indians-101-President-Benjamin-Harrison-and-Indian-E...

May 8, 2014 - Attorney General Jeff Sessions just issued a federal license to discriminate under the guise of "religious liberty." Sessions'... See All 10 Campaigns » · Native American Netroots · Queue Stream Members Following Profile · Indians 101: President Benjamin Harrison and Indian Education. By Ojibwa. Thursday ...

Protesters gathered for a Women's March in Whitehorse, Yukon, Canada today at -13 degrees Celsius. Solidarity! The red dress in this photo commemorates missing and murdered Indigenous women and girls in Canada.

from sd-k

https://www.smithsonianmag.com/smithsonian-institution/probing-paradoxes-native-americans-pop-culture-180967906/

http://thehill.com/opinion/energy-environment/370117-how-national-monument-designations-can-hurt-native-americans

Answer: 1.1 million pounds (thanks, Buckaroo News)

HistoryBites's video. HistoryBites July 31, 2017.

Trahant Reports

Question. I'm producing cards highlighting #NativeVote18 candidates, one for every candidate on my list. Two years ago I did this and posted one each day on social media. I am wondering ... if they were printed and sold, are folks interested in a complete pack? Or just social media?

I am also interested in hearing from readers about color. Last election I developed a color for every state (usually based on something in the state flag). But some readers asked me to color code by party, Red, Blue, Green, etc.

New Mexico

U.S. CONGRESS

Deb Haaland

"I went to Standing Rock because I believe the health of our earth and environment are the most important factors for the future of our children and grandchildren and their ability to thrive, and I saw the #NoDAPL protest as a drum beat for true environmental change." debforcongress.com

Primary election is June 5, 2018; New Mexico voter registration is available online. First Congressional District includes Albuquerque.

#NativeVote18 * trahantreports.com

Thoughts?

Upcoming Dinner Hosting Opportunities

Twelve High School Students from Brazil are visiting Reno for two weeks and learning about social justice and volunteerism.

Tourism Official from Japan

A single Japanese tourism official with the Japanese Ministry of Tourism is looking for a home hospitality dinner on Feb 1st or 2nd.

Environmental Experts from Myanmar

A delegation of seven Burmese officials working on Natural Resource Management are looking to be hosted for a home hospitality dinner on February 9, 10, 11, or 12.

Emergency Response Officials from Iraq

A delegation of Iraqi Emergency Response and Disaster Management officials are looking for a home hospitality dinner on Feb 11 or 12.

Judges and Prosecutors from 11 African Countries

A delegation of eleven African judges and prosecutors from Burkina Faso, Cote d'Ivoire, Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, Senegal, Somalia, South Africa, Togo, Tunisia, and Uganda are looking for a home hospitality dinner on February 23, 24, or 25.

Judges from Saudi Arabia

A delegation of 12 Saudi Arabian Judges are looking for a home hospitality dinner on March 8th or 9th.

Judges and Lawyers from Pakistan

A delegation of ten Pakistani Judges and Lawyers focusing on Child Abductions are looking for a dinner on March 8th or 9th.

Contact Carina Black at cblack@unr.edu if you are interested in hosting!

Interested in Hosting Visitors for Overnight Stays?

Delegation of Six on Disability Advocacy and Reform from Azerbaijan (May 4-12)

Glee Willis shared a link: Scientists crack mystery of the Sierra Nevada's age

In science, the simplest questions often prove themselves the most difficult to answer. Questions such as what killed the dinosaurs, or how many fish are there in the oceans took decades to solve or remain unanswered. phys.org