New Montoya scholarship for Native students available

Happy winter into spring. Attached are a few flyers for the Jack Montoya Scholarship, which supports culturally-involved Native students in California to make their journey to college. Any age student can apply. It's for undergrad and graduate studies. And the deadline for applications is March 15.

For more specific guidelines, go to: <http://hafscholar.fluidreview.com/p/a/16048/>

If you or a friend or relative would like to apply, please visit the Humboldt Area Foundation's online scholarship application (the scholarship is open to residents of any part of California, not just Humboldt) : <http://hafscholar.fluidreview.com/>

And if you have any questions, please feel free to send them my way at nativecultures@hafoundation.org.

Thanks for helping get the word out about this new scholarship. Let's get more folks to college! Warm wishes, Lindsie M. Bear, Program Director, Native Cultures Fund, Humboldt Area Foundation 363 Indianola Rd. Bayside, CA 95524

Superintendents of Indian Affairs for a specific locality existed from approximately 1803 until 1878, when the last Superintendency was abolished. After 1878, agents of the Bureau of Indian Affairs reported directly to the Commissioner's Office in Washington, DC, at least until the BIA created Area Offices.

A Superintendent of Indian Affairs was an administrator, communicating and overseeing the agents who worked directly with individual tribes. It was the responsibility of the superintendent to see that the agents were following official government policy. Records for Superintendencies exist in the National Archives and copies of many of them are also available in other research facilities.

The Superintendencies, Listed by Date of Creation

The dates of the records listed in the following chart may extend beyond the date when the Superintendency was abolished. The Bureau of Indian Affairs occasionally filed correspondence under the name of the Superintendency even after it had ceased to operate. Pre-1824 correspondence was under the jurisdiction of the War Department.

All are Record Group 75; M denotes microfilm #. Please be advised that many of these are available locally at your state library and/or federal records depository for your state, for instance, in Nevada, microfilm may be found at UNR and UNLV.
