Bring Home Your Own Saddle-trained Wild Horse from the Northern Nevada Correctional Center on Saturday, February 24, 2018 by Steven Field

On Saturday, February 24, the Bureau of Land Management and the Nevada Department of Corrections – Silver State Industries are hosting a saddle-trained wild horse and burro adoption at the Northern Nevada Correctional Center located at 1721 Snyder Avenue, south of Carson City, Nevada. Public viewing begins at 9 a.m. and a competitive-bid adoption event, conducted by an [...] Read more of this post

Tribal Communications Resources

"To enlighten the public toward a better understanding of the Indian people"
- NCAI Constitution

The founders of NCAI knew all too well how little people knew about tribes, Native people, and the powerful place tribal governments have within the United States family of governments. This purpose, to serve as the unified voice of Indian Country, carries over into our public education, communications, and media relations efforts at the national, regional, and local levels.

Strengthening the voices of tribes and tribal efforts is also part of this purpose. That's why NCAI has developed a comprehensive set of resources for both our members and the rest of Indian Country, to strengthen communications efforts throughout tribal communities.

The organization offers toolkits, guides, trainings, webinars, and educational events for public information officers and communications professionals working for tribal governments and advocates. The following resources are provided by NCAI through the support of W.K. Kellogg Foundation as part of NCAI's Partnership for Tribal Governance.

Tribal Communicators Trainings and Network

Are you a public affairs professional working for a tribal government, organization, or company?

Find out more about NCAI's National Tribal Communicators Network.

Communications Toolkit

Developed in partnership with Pyramid Communications, NCAI developed a series of toolkits for tribal communicators based on extensive interviews and discussions with tribal leaders, advocacy organizations and tribal communications professionals.

Effective Tools for Communications and Leadership in Indian Country

A thirty-six page toolkit, this NCAI publication outlines the tools, tactics, and strategies from tribal communications experts. The toolkit aims to help tribal leaders and Indian Country advocates in ever changing media and communications landscape.

Working Together for Our Common Benefit

On November 14, 2012, 45 people gathered in Albuquerque, New Mexico, at the NCAI's Annual Convention to participate in the pre-session: "Native Organizations; Working Together for Our Common Benefit." This twelve page report outlines the key findings from this meeting - highlighting communications messaging best practices and strategies.

Leadership and Communications in Indian Country

This four page report outlines the key findings from interviews with 5 tribal leaders and tribal communications officers across the country. The conversations focused on exploring how communications helps in their daily work, how the communications playing field has changed over the years and how they have adapted, overcome barriers, and what the tools and activities are that make them more effective leaders and communicators.

Volunteers Needed for Annual Sage-Grouse Lek Count by Steven Field

The Nevada Department of Wildlife is looking for volunteers for our annual Sage Grouse Lek count. This is a great opportunity to connect with Nevada's wildlife and help in conservation efforts.

Volunteers will count sage grouse at designated locations around the state. This opportunity requires a large commitment on the volunteer's part. Volunteers will be assigned one or more leks to monitor about every 10 days depending on weather. Lek counts take place early in the morning and can be in very remote areas where there is little cell service and a four wheel drive vehicle is required.

Any volunteers interested in this opportunity need to register as a volunteer through our system here. After registering, you will sign up as Sage Grouse volunteer here.

All new volunteers MUST attend training Saturday, March 3. Volunteers will meet at 3:45 a.m. at NDOW headquarters (6980 Sierra Center Parkway, Suite 120, Reno, Nevada 89512) before heading to a lek to go over count protocol. Volunteers who have already participated in the surveys in the past are not required to attend, but it is highly recommended.

Many times, work by previous researchers/reporters, etc will have assembled a lot of material that, on its own, would be hard/tedious/expensive to assemble into one place. It is always good to read the bibliography of a published work, or in the case of Nevada Special Collections (as well as any other state) to peruse the assembled material of researchers prior to developing and embarking on one's quest. Below is a good example - Correspondence in 1858 re events/conditions prior to the Pyramid Lake War has been extracted from volumes of microfilm and stands/lies ready for your discovery, right at UNR in an easily obtainable folder.....

Biographical Note

Dr. Joy Leland, Ph.D., is a research professor emeritus of Anthropology, Desert Research Institute (DRI) of the University of Nevada (1989). She received the following degrees: B.A., Pomona College, 1949; M.B.A., Stanford University, 1960; M.A., University of Nevada, Reno, 1972; and Ph.D., University of California, Irvine, 1975.

Dr. Leland began working for the DRI in 1961. Her research was in the field of anthropology, focusing on studies of alcohol and health issues among urban Native Americans. She is the author of many articles in professional journals, professional papers, and the following books:

We Need to be Shown: A Study of the Talents, Work Potential and Aspirations of the Pyramid Lake Indians by William Gomberg and Joy Leland (1962)

Great Basin Indian Population Figures (1873-1979) and the Pitfalls Therein (1976)

Drinking Styles in an Indian Settlement: A Numerical Folk Taxonomy. M.A. Thesis, University of California, Irvine (1975)

Firewater Myths: North American Indian Drinking and Alcohol Addiction (1976)

Frederick West Lander: A Biographical Sketch (1822-1862), edited by Joy Leland with contributions by Mavis Shahrani, Joy Leland, and Alice Baldrice (1993).

Scope and Content

Contains grant funded research materials on alcoholism of urban Nevada female Indians and publications presented about the findings. Also research materials collected for the biography of Frederick West Lander, explorer and soldier who led or participated in five transcontinental surveys for transportation routes (1853-1860). Research materials on Lander were gathered by Joy Leland, Alice Baldrice, and Mavis Shahrani and published as Frederick West Lander: A biographical sketch (1822-1862) by the Desert Research Institute Publications in the Social Sciences No. 15, 1993. The biography was the fulfillment of a condition of an endowment to DRI from Anna Lander West McDonnell (1872-1966), daughter of Frederick Lander's brother Charles West.

"Anna Lander West McDonnell Papers have been accessioned as a separate manuscript collection: 96-13."

Restrictions

Collection is open for research. Materials must be used on-site; advance notice suggested. Access to parts of this collection may be restricted under provisions of state or federal law.

Immediate Source of Acquisition

Donated by Joy Leland in 1996.

Separated Materials

The following maps and transparencies were transferred to the maps section of the Special Collections Department:

Milk R. to the Crossing of the Columbia R. from explorations & surveys made under the direction of the Hon. Jefferson Davis, Secretary of War by Isaac I. Stevens, Governor of Washington Territory. 1853-1855.

Photographs have been transferred to the Special Collections Department photo archive as collection number UNRS-P1997-15

The maps in Subseries 2.1 are located in the MSS Map Case.

Related Materials

Anna Lander West McDonnell Papers have been accessioned as a separate manuscript collection: 96-13.

Arrangement

- 1 The research papers of Joy Leland have been arranged into the following series:
- 2 Series 1: "Alcohol in the Lives of Some Indian Women" Research Materials
- 3 Series 2: Research Materials for Biography of Frederick West Lander

Administrative Information

Collection processed by Susan Searcy, June 1996. Finding aid prepared by Susan Searcy, June 1996. Finding aid revised by Jacquelyn Sundstrand and Jessica Maddox, August 2010. This finding aid was produced using the Archivists' Toolkit on July 15, 2016.

Detailed Description of the Records

Series 1: "Alcohol in the Lives of Some Indian Women" Research Materials., 1980-1995 7.0 cubic feet

Series 1 contains professional papers presented by Dr. Leland which were based on the study of "Alcohol in the Lives of Some Indian Women" and copies of the questions and responses elicited from 175 interviews of Indian women in an urban environment. The first folder of Box 1 contains the professional papers; subsequent folders and boxes contain the completed questionnaires, arranged in numerical order. A key to names of respondents and questionnaire numbers will be donated by Dr. Leland at a future date; it will be restricted.

Box 1 Folder 1/S1
