"Kill the Indian, Save the Man... Fail"

"... I felt the need to paint an image that reflected this era. I chose a school photo of the Carlisle Indian Boarding School... I decided to gradually add color to the faces and ultimately finish with contemporary Native children of today, smiling and proud. Our culture survived. Our children are now being taught the culture and language, and can express their identity without fear of punishment. This painting is a reminder to our own people of the struggles of our ancestors and a reminder to others to never do this to any group of people ever again."

David Kanietakeron Fadden (artist & artist statement)

Every one of these children was shot due to overcrowding at a Kanien'keha:ka residential school.

I did a report in high school. The stories I shared with my teachers, they cried. I told them about a little girl who's job was to help the nuns burn the babies in an incinerator. Babies that were made by the children with the priests and nuns. Nuns were burning their babies too from raping the older boys. The priest did those ones. Another story where a few little boys were jumping on an old bed. Only one boy was caught, he was beaten so bad and hit so many times in his privates they exploded. This only goes back to the generation right before me. So #noIwontgetoverit

TODAY IS ALL SOUL'S DAY, SO LET'S REMEMBER ALL THESE SOULSand take the actions that will let them rest and no others to have the same experience.

Thousands of American Indian voters in N.D. getting free IDs

The free programs launched with the help of groups including the Lakota People's Law Project and the Four Directions nonprofit so far have provided more than 2,000 voters on four reservations with the proper credentials. <http://srib.mn/2qj1JUI>

The bison found on Grand Canyon's North Rim are not native — they were introduced into the area in the early 1900s and have become hybridized with cattle.

The promise of a shaman

If you come to me as a victim I will not support you.

But I will have the courage to walk with you through the pain that you are suffering.

I will put you in the fire, I will undress you, and I will sit you on the earth.
I will bathe you with herbs, I will purge you, and you will vomit the rage and the darkness inside you.
I'll bang your body with good herbs, and I'll put you to lay in the grass, face up to the sky.
Then I will blow your crown to clean the old memories that make you repeat the same behavior.
I will blow your forehead to scare away the thoughts that cloud your vision.
I will blow your throat to release the knot that won't let you talk.
I will blow your heart to scare fear, so that it goes far away where it cannot find you.
I will blow your solar plexus to extinguish the fire of the hell you carry inside, and you will know peace.
I will blow with fire your belly to burn the attachments, and the love that was not.
I will blow away the lovers that left you, the children that never came.
I will blow your heart to make you warm, to rekindle your desire to feel, create and start again.

I will blow with force your vagina or your penis, to clean the sexual door to your soul.
I will blow away the garbage that you collected trying to love what did not wanted to be loved.
I will use the broom, and the sponge, and the rag, and safely clean all the bitterness inside you.
I will blow your hands to destroy the ties that prevent you from creating.
I will blow your feet to dust and erase the footprints memories, so you can never return to that bad place.
I will turn your body, so your face will kiss the earth.
I'll blow your spine from the root to the neck to increase your strength and help you walk upright.
And I will let you rest.

After this you will cry, and after crying you will sleep,
And you will dream beautiful and meaningful dreams,
and when you wake up I'll be waiting for you.
I will smile at you, and you will smile back
I will offer you food that you will eat with pleasure, tasting life, and I will thank you.
Because what I'm offering today, was offered to me before when darkness lived within me.
And after I was healed, I felt the darkness leaving, and I cried.

Then we will walk together, and I will show you my garden, and my plants, and I will take you to the fire again.

And will talk together in a single voice with the blessing of the earth.

And we will shout to the forest the desires of your heart.

And the fire will listen and whisper the echo, and we will create hope together.

And the mountains will listen and whisper the echo, and we will create hope together.

And the rivers will listen and whisper the echo, and we will create hope together.

And the wind will listen and whisper the echo, and we will create hope together.

And then we will bow before the fire, and we will call upon all the visible and invisible guardians.

And you will say thank you to all of them.

And you will say thank you to yourself.

And you will say thank you to yourself.

And you will say thank you to yourself.
