There are many examples of historical trauma, we have a similar pattern of trauma most tribes went through. Such as our grandparents/Aunties/Uncles went through here in Nevada at the Stewart Boarding school. "Loss of language, land theft/removal, forced indoctrination, weaponized education, loss of food source, military tactics and so much more....it's time to heal, both sides

Native Human Remains Suspected to Have Been Stored on Vassar College

ALIYAH CHAVEZ, INDIAN COUNTRY TODAY

On February 12, the president of Vassar College, an elite school located in New York, informed students and faculty of a horrifying revelation: Human remains had been found stored in a campus building months ago. The college says it is complying with a federal law known as the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act, which says Native human remains and cultural items must be "treated with dignity and respect." IN THE NEVADA CURRENT: "They won't even discuss the issue ... not even to tell us no." Clark County School District has an Indian Education program, and it suffers malign neglect, according to parents. In this story by April Corbin Girus, you will find some very articulate parents making several excellent points. You will also find school board folks hiding behind the skirt of bureaucracy and exhibiting little to any interest in being, you know, proactive. Oh and by the way, it looks like CCSD's, shall we say, studied indifference is leaving federal money on the table. And seriously, the parents make a strong case.
