The podcast, “Native Youth for Justice” aims to center the voices of CNVP’s youth leaders. In this first episode, they discuss the political climate of the United States and share their political analysis on recent events that took place at the Capitol on January 6. Tune in to this roundtable discussion to hear what they have to say about our current political climate and how we can move forward in light of recent attacks on the Capitol.

The discussion began with youth sharing whether or not they were surprised by the insurrection of the Capitol and who was involved.

Yahmonee Hedrick’s response echoed the sentiments of everyone else on the panel “Whenever something like this happens, there’s this huge outpour of ‘[I didn’t know people could be this evil],’ but it’s almost like, how many more times do you have to get shocked before it’s just like, this is pretty standard, this is what I expect.”

Others expressed that upon hearing our country’s leaders say that the attacks were not a true reflection of who America is, many felt this statement to be untrue.

Kameiko Hostler says that our country has always been this way, as it was built on genocide and has deep racist roots of white supremacy, “...These are the same Americans that committed genocide of Native Americans, enslaved millions of Africans, and the same people that stormed the Capitol that day.”

Towards the end of the discussion, they were all posed with the same question: What’s the one thing that you can do [as a Native youth] towards change?

To hear their answers, you can listen to the episode, now live!

Thank you to all of our youth leaders featured on the first episode: Michael Lopez , Yahmonee Hedrick (Maidu, Chickasaw, Taos Pueblo, and Ute), Kameiko Hostler (Hupa), Sequoia Coleman (Seminole), Michael Hunsaker (Cherokee Nation), Te Maia Wiki (Yurok, Tolowa), and Angelina Hinojosa (Pinoleville Pomo Nation).

SUBJECT: Strengthening Tribal Consultation

Dear Tribal Leader:

On January 26, 2021, President Biden issued a Presidential Memorandum on Tribal Consultation and Strengthening Nation-to-Nation Relationships. The Memorandum affirms the Administration’s commitment to Tribal sovereignty and to fulfilling our Federal trust responsibility. The Memorandum also reaffirms the policy announced in Presidential Memorandum of November 5, 2009 (Tribal Consultation), which directed Federal agencies to develop and periodically revise their tribal consultation policies to ensure that Federal agencies consider Tribal feedback when developing policies that have Tribal implications, consistent with Executive Order 13175.

HUD has been committed to engaging in consultation early on before the agency begins drafting policy and continues to engage and incorporate Tribal input until the adoption of policy. However, we welcome additional insight from you on how we can make the process even more robust and meaningful.

In accordance with the January 26th Memorandum, HUD will now develop a plan of actions that HUD will take to implement the policies and directives of Executive Order 13175. To do this, HUD is now seeking feedback from Tribal leaders on how we may strengthen Tribal consultation with our Tribal partners. Our goal is to ensure that we always engage in regular, meaningful, and robust consultation in the development of HUD policies that have Tribal implications.

If you have any recommendations or comments on how HUD could improve its Tribal consultation practices and policy, please submit your feedback via email to tribalconsultationpolicy@hud.gov. We ask that you provide your feedback by April 5, 2021. Our current consultation policy can be found at: https://www.hud.gov/program_offices/public_indian_housing/ih/regs/govtogov_tcp

We are organizing virtual consultation sessions. The first consultation session is scheduled for Thursday, February 25, 2021 from 1 PM – 2:00 PM EST.

The call-in information is as follows:

Step 1: Dial into the conference.

Dial-in: 888-251-2949 or 215-861-0694

Access Code: 4755419#

Step 2: Join the conference on your computer.

Entry Link: <https://ems8.intellor.com/login/836860>

Details for a second consultation session will come at a later date. Call-in information will be posted on the CodeTalk website \(www.hud.gov/codetalk\) as well as sent out via a Dear Tribal Leader letter with the log-in details. Please keep in mind that due to the current COVID-19 National Emergency, in-person consultation sessions cannot take place.

This is an excellent opportunity to provide feedback and constructive thoughts on how HUD can engage in regular, meaningful, and robust tribal consultation. I strongly encourage you to participate.

Thank you for your continued partnership and collaboration in serving Indian Country.

Sincerely,

Heidi J. Frechette, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Native American Programs
