State Electronic Records Initiative (SERI) Webinars

Follow the Yellow Brick Road: Decision Making for Storage of Electronic Records

Tuesday, March 8, 2022 | 2:00 PM Eastern | Register

Many organizations with decentralized records management grapple with a variety of storage options for electronic records. Employees have access to desktop and personal network drives, shared network drives, or cloud storage systems. They can create and store records in standard office programs, specialized vendor-based software/applications, and home-grown systems.

This webinar will guide attendees through Multnomah County's (Oregon) two-year journey to standardize storage recommendations for different types of electronic records while embracing agency-specific business processes.

I'm proud to announce that my campaign will be joining Rep. Jamie Raskins and National Democracy Summer as an official Democracy Summer partner once again, where the next generation of Democratic leaders and activists emerge!

High school seniors and college students can apply to be a Horsford Fellow. Fellows will learn from top organizers and political leaders, and get first hand organizing experience with our campaign! I'm looking for 10 students to join our efforts this summer.

You will learn from great activist heroes, both young and veteran political leaders, Democratic policy experts and top political and community organizers across the country.

Don't miss your chance to be a part of this extraordinary opportunity! For more information and to apply click here: <https://www.flowcode.com/page/stevenahorsford>

Deadline to apply is March 15th!

Big shoutout to last year's passionate and bright fellows!

Thanks to Our Generous Community, Scholarship Opportunities Help Support Student Excellence

Applications are coming in for the Community Foundation 2022 scholarships for graduating seniors. There are various deadlines according to the scholarship(s) a student qualifies to apply for. Thanks to our generous fundholders, last year, 215 students from around the region were awarded scholarships to assist them in pursuing their higher education goals. The total of $723,085 from 34 scholarship funds was awarded through the Community Foundation.

UMN regents approve repatriation of Native American Mimbres objects

The board also discussed campus safety updates and a new agricultural research initiative at their February meetings on Thursday and Friday.

by Maia Irvin and Gabrielle Lombard      Published February 13, 2022

The University of Minnesota Board of Regents approved a resolution affirming the return of Native American Mimbres objects and provided an update on campus safety at their meetings Thursday and Friday.

The board also introduced a new agricultural and sustainability initiative and approved new employee contracts, including a contract extension for athletics director Mark Coyle.

Repatriation of Mimbres objects

The board approved a resolution Friday to return the Mimbres objects at the Weisman Art Museum to their Native American tribes.

The University has begun consultations with 28 Native American tribes that are, or are likely to be, affiliated with the Mimbres objects. The Mimbres Collection includes Native American funerary objects like stone tools, arrowheads, beads and pottery that belonged to the Mimbres people who resided in the southwest U.S. beginning around 1000 AD.

Criteria to determine the objects' cultural affiliation and intended location include geographical kinship, folkloric information, archeological information and several other categories of relevant information and expert opinion.

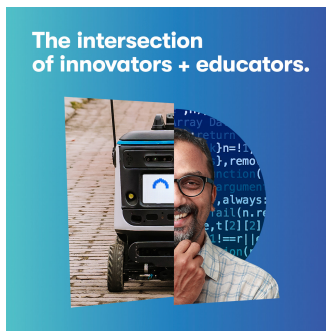

“The University is exhibiting the values of what it means to be a land-grant institution by authorizing the repatriation of the Mimbres objects to their rightful home,” board chair Kendall Powell said at the meeting. “We express our regret that it was not done sooner.”

Between 1928 and 1931, the University and the Minneapolis Institute of Art excavated Native American materials in New Mexico, including human remains and material objects of the Mimbres people. The University then transferred some of these remains to other U.S. universities or museums.

In 1989, the University transferred the human remains to the Minnesota Indian Affairs Council, and in 1992, the University's Department of Anthropology transferred the remaining objects to the Weisman Art Museum.

The University has faced criticism from Native American tribes, the Minnesota Indian Affairs Council and anthropologists for delaying the return of these objects after affiliated tribes asked for them to be sent back.
