T.H.R.I.V.E. Emerging Leaders Reimagined Applications Open Through May 31

Apply Here

Are you a Northern Nevada business owner stuck spending more time working IN your business than ON your business? If so, you should apply for the upcoming T.H.R.I.V.E. Emerging Leaders Reimagined cohort, a 6-month intensive training program that helps CEOs and Executives get unstuck and take their business to the next level.

This executive-level training series is intended to give ambitious small business leaders a challenging opportunity to accelerate their growth through targeted training. T.H.R.I.V.E. Emerging Leaders Reimagined revolutionizes the rich history of executive-level training for small businesses poised for growth.

This training is not for start-ups or people who are thinking about starting a business. T.H.R.I.V.E. Emerging Leaders Reimagined advanced training series is open to small business owners and executives that:

- Have annual revenues of at least $250,000
- Have been in business for at least three years
- Have at least one employee, other than self
- Can commit to completing the full program
- Are coachable, ready to be challenged and supported, and willing to put in the necessary work to accelerate growth

Since its inception in 2008, SBA's Emerging Leaders has trained over 5,000 small business owners, creating over 11,000 jobs, generating nearly $1 billion in new financing, and securing over $4 billion in government contracts.

The SBA Nevada District Office is currently recruiting for the 2022 Reno Cohort, which runs from July to December.

SUBJECT: Training Webinars on the Environmental Review Process

Dear Tribal Leader:

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has created a series of training webinars on the environmental review process designed specifically for Tribes. These training webinars were created based on feedback provided during Tribal consultation on developing a coordinated environmental review. This training series is one of the deliverables in the Plan to Implement Coordinated Environmental Reviews, which was issued by an interagency workgroup in April 2022. Additional information on the environmental review process can be found on CodeTalk.

Below you can find specific information on the training webinars.

Environmental Review Training Webinar Series:

- Use of HUD Environmental Forms

This webinar will provide a basic overview of the following three HUD 24 CFR Part 58 forms:

- Exempt or Categorically Excluded, Not Subject to 58.5
- Categorically Excluded, Subject to 58.5
- Section 58 Environmental Assessments

This webinar will focus on applying these forms to activities in a typical Indian Housing Plan or other projects commonly seen in Tribal communities and clarify who signs them.

- Aggregation

Aggregating geographically and/or functionally related activities improves the efficiency of environmental reviews and is required by HUD regulations. This webinar will discuss how to include the full scope of a project in a project description for an environmental review and provide different examples of project aggregation for projects in Tribal communities.

- Emergency Repairs

HUD's regulations at 24 CFR 58.34(a)(10) include an exemption for emergency repairs. This webinar will discuss how and when 24 CFR 58.34(a)(10) may be used to expedite the environmental review process and provide different examples.

- Reevaluation

Project scopes or environmental conditions can change after an environmental review has already been completed. This webinar will discuss how and when to update an existing environmental review under reevaluation at 24 CFR 58.47 and provide different examples.

As part of the overall TEDxCarsonCity theme Creating a Community You Want to Live in, Walden spoke about “How to Change Behavior to Ensure a Sustainable Future.” The talk was recorded and posted on You Tube. <https://greenupnow.biz/tedx-talk/>

Envirolution’s mission is to inspire and empower the next generation of leaders and workers who will drive the growth of a sustainable economy. With a focus on hands-on service learning, our programs not only provide career development for students, but also enable our participants to give back to their communities.

Since its inception, Envirolution has worked with interns as part of our youth leadership development goals. Our interns have come from UNR’s honors program, AmeriCorps, and local high schools. They provide a youthful and fresh perspective and additional feet on the street for our events and initiatives. A great learning experience for everyone involved!

Interested in interning at Envirolution? Email info@envirolution.org.

Envirolution is thrilled to share our new video, "The Choice." A very special thank you to Three Sticks, Hey Frank, Tesla-Gigafactory NV and Carson Middle School for helping us make this happen. Please take a moment to connect with our mission.

The New Nature of Learning

We've positively impacted more than 210,000+ children with our mission to deliver science-based education programs to develop critical thinking skills and inspire natural resource stewardship. As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, we offer a variety of STEM programs that borrow the best practices from formal and informal education to make the most impact from every hour we spend with students. <https://www.sierranevadajourneys.org>

Museums to check out

The Big Valley Museum, in Bieber (no relation), is a local history museum featuring artifacts from native people and early settlers of this area.

Lassen Historical Museum is another local history museum, in Susanville, and next to Roop's Fort, where some early settlers rode out an attack by anti-immigration Paiute tribe members.

The Susanville Railroad Depot keeps artifacts and items from the age of rail, when most of the local industry timber was shipped out by train. Today this depot is at the head of the Bizz Johnson rail-trail, with bikes available to rent.

The Modoc County History Museum includes a larger collection of historic items, including native and settler items, but also has an extra interesting collection of firearms from the 15th Century through the middle 20th Century, one of the largest firearms collections in California, including a blunderbuss, 10-gauge shotguns, and a three-gauge shotgun. The museum also has an iron lung, branding iron collection, old glass bottles, a steam engine, and various other curiosities.

What Are Public School Educators Looking For in a Museum?

By Amber Geary

When her invitations to school groups to tour her newly constructed museum generated a lukewarm response, an educator decided to embark on a thorough investigation of why public school educators elect to add some museums to their curriculum and not others. Read what her two-year, mixed-method, regional study uncovered.

LEHIGH COUNTY AGING AND ADULT SERVICES UNSUNG HEROES 2022 NOMINATION

Nominee: Carla J.S. Messinger

Carla Messinger's long history of volunteerism and service in Lehigh County deserves to be recognized and celebrated. For 25 years she was the full-time unpaid Acting Executive Director and primary docent of Allentown's small Lenape museum. There she presented programs and organized events on-and offsite for thousands of school children and the general public, including people of every age and ability level--all without receiving a paycheck, benefits, or health coverage.

Carla went on to found Native American Heritage Programs in 2002 and as its director presents programs at schools and colleges, social groups, businesses, government agencies, and festivals, often accepting such modest compensation that she is a de facto volunteer!! Moreover, for over 35 years she has regularly bought, gathered, and distributed clothing and personal care items to William Allen High School students, working with Donna Balascak until that teacher retired, then with others until the pandemic arrived. Carla also makes monthly contributions to food banks and donates supplies to Cedarbrook at Fountain Hill.

Her ongoing outreach and achievements in the local and regional community deserve all the positive adjectives named in this application. She is inspiring because she so completely embodies the spirit of volunteerism while tirelessly pursuing her life's mission--sharing the contributions Native Americans have made to the culture now shared by those living where her Pennsylvania Lenape ancestors did at the time of Columbus.

Carla is also courageous, because she tirelessly advocates for a minority's rights at a time when equality and inclusiveness are very controversial issues. Her work is unusual and to some extent innovative, because 40 percent of Americans believe Native Americans no longer exist, and no one else in this area is as committed as Carla to making them visible and describing their legacy.

Extraordinarily generous and kindhearted, she is a very supportive person who is always ready to respond helpfully to teachers and students consulting her information-packed 100+ page NAHP website. She's a wonderful friend as well--volunteering often to do necessary shopping or driving, share information or home-cooked food, provide companionship when it's needed, or perform other errands or favors. Deeply compassionate, she readily goes out of her way to help anyone in trouble. And while doing any of the above, she is unfailingly cheerful!

Carla's pro-bono efforts as an educational consultant reach and impact many people in the community. She has donated copies of her prizewinning children's book When the Shadbush Blooms to libraries and several schools in the Lehigh Valley, writes Opinion pieces for The Philadelphia Inquirer and the Morning Call, and recently did a half-hour appearance with John Pearce on Bethlehem's WDIY NPR station (88.1 FM) and a 15-minute segment on the Sunrise Show on WFMZ Channel 69 TV.

(Carla will be one of 17 on a Billboard!)
