

Journal #5315 from sdc 10.24.22

Candyland

Annette Cavanaugh travels

2023 National Fish Forum Registration is Now Open

Blocked for Decades, Chinook Salmon Once Again Swim in Tribe's Ancestral River

Gila River Tribe Will Take Offer to Conserve Water, but Yuma Farmers Say It's Not Enough

Deadline for 3D project applications draws near

A Punk Rock Museum Is Coming to Las Vegas

Berkeley City Council to begin all meetings with a land acknowledgment

When the Deep-Sea Snow Crab Is the Canary in the Coalmine

Marvel at James Webb's Stunning New Portrait of the Pillars of Creation

Berkeley repatriates cultural artifacts to Indigenous tribe

Native people angry after bloody Indigenous Peoples' Day tweet by Kari Lake campaign aide

Justice for Nevaeh': Police arrest man who killed 14-year-old Indigenous girl in hit-and-run case

Saving Our Ocean to Save Our Future: National Marine Sanctuaries

Endangered Tortoise

Becomes a Mom At 80 Years Old

Bandelier National Monument

Homage to Kevin Locke

Rosaline Shaw

Frank Romo

A sunrise over the colorful landscape of Candyland in Southern Utah ,USA!
instagram.com/davidmrule

nevadahumanities.org

Uniquely Nevada — Nevada Humanities

By Antoinette Cavanaugh Recently, I returned from a trip abroad, a journey beginning at the south of France through most of Spain. While meeting people along the way, they were curious about where I was from in the United States. The typical dialogue was as follows: “What state are you from in Am

Wanda George-Quasula

Last night's final night of 2022 INFR was a great final.

Congratulations to all the Champion Cowgirls and Cowboys.

Veteran Honor Guard

(Plan Way Ahead Calendar)

2023 National Fish Forum Registration is Now Open

The U.S. EPA, Office of Water, will hold a virtual National Forum on Contaminants in Fish (Fish Forum) to bring together interested stakeholders to discuss the many issues related to human health and contaminants in fish.

CONFERENCE REGISTRATION AND ABSTRACT SUBMITTAL DETAILS:

The free virtual conference will be held as follows:

- Week 1: February 28 and March 2, 2023 (12:00 - 5:30 PM Eastern Time)
- Week 2: March 7 and 9, 2023 (12:00 - 5:30 PM Eastern Time)

Some topics likely to be covered include:

- Environmental Justice: Protection of high frequency fish consumers, such as subsistence fishers and fishers in underserved communities
- Community/participatory science: Roles and practices
- Latest science on specific contaminants in fish and their impacts on human health, e.g., PFAS, mercury, PCBs, and cyanotoxins
- Emerging science in developing fish consumption advisories
- Risk communication & public engagement strategies for fish consumption advisories
- Issuing/rescinding fish consumption advisories
- Effectiveness of fish consumption advisories
- Sampling and analysis: Practices and methods

Register for the Fish Forum at: https://usepa.zoomgov.com/webinar/register/WN_h_jw0futQ1GjDim2P51Ubg

If you plan to submit an abstract for consideration, please submit all materials for consideration by Wednesday, November 2, 2022. Your abstract should be no longer than 250 words. You can use this link to submit the abstract https://forms.office.com/Pages/ResponsePage.aspx?id=e7mQz0a-AEqXAIHOT_G39oVBI5VF5IFFup5NA-B1ecRUMUNMS0QzSTJUN0RRM1NOSjBOVjhKTFhRQy4u

For more information, visit <https://www.epa.gov/fish-tech/2023-national-fish-forum>

~~~~~
Blocked for Decades, Chinook Salmon Once Again Swimming in Shasta County Tribe's Ancestral River

CBS, 10/18/22 -With a helicopter ride and a trip down Interstate 5, a remarkable effort is underway to save California's endangered salmon.

In Shasta County, The California Department of Fish & Wildlife, The US Fish and Wildlife Service, and the Winnemem Wintu Tribe have partnered to try to reintroduce winter run Chinook to the McCloud River.

 Art by Micqaela Jones in Elko

~~~~~
Gila River Tribe Will Take Offer to Conserve Water, but Yuma Farmers Say It's Not Enough

Arizona Republic, 10/18/22 - The Gila River Indian Community is the first Arizona water rights holder to publicly pursue the federal government's new offer of compensation to leave Colorado River water in Lake Mead.

Maidu group preparing for a Bear Dance - circa 1948

Native North American Indian - Old Photos is with Brandon Jenkins.

The deadline for 3D Project Applications is drawing near!

The 3D Project encourages rural Nevada destinations to take a comprehensive look at travel and tourism and envision how they can evolve to attract new visitors, strengthen partnerships, grow the local economy, and improve quality of life for residents.

When Travel Nevada took to the road last month to kick off this exciting new program, we were blown away by the enthusiasm, partnerships, attractions, and stories from across the state. We want to extend a huge THANK YOU to all of our amazing host communities and to all who attended the workshops! It was a pleasure to meet each of you.

Less than a week to go!

Applications for our first round of 3D Project awards are due in Submittable next Tuesday, October 25.

If you are working on an application and still need support or clarification from Travel Nevada's Destination Development Team, TODAY is the last Office Hours before the due date.

If you have not yet begun your application, there's still time!

All resources, including the workshop materials, guidelines, and scoring rubric, are available for you to review on the 3D Project website.

We can't wait to review your amazing Concepts!

A Punk Rock Museum Is Coming to Las Vegas

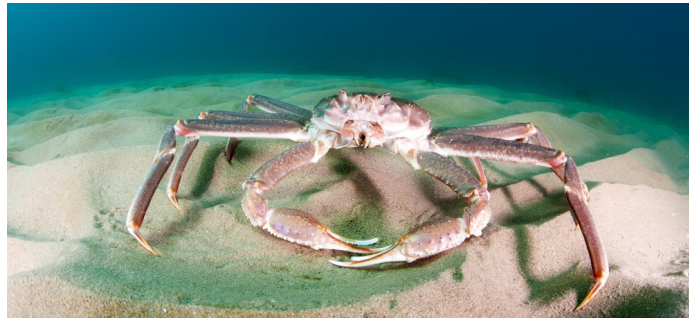

Thousands of instruments, set lists, flyers and other ephemera will tell the genre's story

October 21, 2022 3:26 p.m.

Berkeley City Council to begin all meetings with a land acknowledgment

Intended as a “starting point” for reparative work with local Indigenous people, a land acknowledgment will be displayed at every meeting and read aloud monthly.

https://www.berkeleyside.org/2022/10/20/berkeley-city-council-indigenous-land-acknowledgment-ohlone-native-american?utm_source=Berkeleyside+newsletters&utm_campaign=1bbacdfd84-RSS_DAILY_BRIEFING&utm_medium=email&utm_term=0_aad4b5ee64-1bbacdfd84-333380833&goal=0_aad4b5ee64-1bbacdfd84-333380833&mc_cid=1bbacdfd84&mc_eid=9a443e4f7b

FOCUS: Charles Pierce | When the Deep-Sea Snow Crab Is the Canary in the Coalmine

Charles Pierce, Esquire

Pierce writes: "Nature is taking a terrible vengeance on humanity in many ways, some of them more subtle than others."

READ MORE

Marvel at James Webb's Stunning New Portrait of the Pillars of Creation

The haunting, finger-like shapes are part of the Eagle Nebula, a vast star-forming region located some 6,500 light-years away. October 20, 2022

<https://www.kqed.org/science/1980484/hubbles-1995-image-of-a-star-nursery-was-amazing-take-a-look-at-nasas-new-version>

PBS: Berkeley repatriates cultural artifacts to Indigenous tribe

<https://www.pbs.org/video/berkeley-repatriation-1665425740/>

~~~~~
Native people angry after bloody Indigenous Peoples' Day tweet by Kari Lake campaign aide      Debra Utacia Krol      Arizona Republic

<https://www.rgj.com/story/news/politics/elections/2022/10/21/kari-lake-campaign-aides-insulting-tweet-angers-native-people/10562356002/>
~~~~~

Justice for Nevaeh': Police arrest man who killed 14-year-old Indigenous girl in hit-and-run case

https://www.dailykos.com/stories/2022/10/20/2130188/--Justice-for-Nevaeh-Police-arrest-man-who-killed-14-year-old-Indigenous-girl-in-hit-and-run-case?detail=email&dkre&pm_source=DKRE&pm_medium=email
~~~~~

Saving Our Ocean to Save Our Future: National Marine Sanctuaries

Philippe Cousteau, Jr. and Lela DeVine, EcoWatch

Excerpt: "The ocean is under constant threat from pollution, overfishing, climate change, and development. We can harness the incredible power of the ocean to help it restore itself. In a world beset with bad news, it's inspiring to see the ocean not just as a victim, but also as a powerful ally."

READ MORE

dogloverclubpage.netlify.app

Endangered Tortoise Becomes A Mom For The First Time At 80 Years Old

A typical turtle can live between 10 and 80 years or so. For this reason, at the age of 80, most of turtles are too old and are enjoying the rest of life. However, for a tortoise named Nigrita, it is the age she becomes a mom for the first...

CAMPAIGN FOR TOBACCO-FREE KIDS

PRESENTS CAMPAIGN FOR THE CULTURE

NATIVE COMMUNITIES VS BIG TOBACCO:

HOW AN INDUSTRY COMMERCIALIZES, EXPLOITS, & MISREPRESENTS TRADITIONAL PRACTICES FOR PROFITS

A Cultural Conversation Series Webinar

Wednesday, November 2nd • 4:00-5:00 PM ET

The poster features a woman in traditional Native American clothing and a young child in the background. A tobacco plant is visible on the left side.

Bandelier National Monument

One hundred and forty-two years ago today (October 23, 1880), Adolf F. A. Bandelier stood at the rim of Frijoles Canyon and looked down at the remains of the Ancestral Pueblo Village of Tyuonyi and the cliff dwellings of Long House. Later Bandelier wrote in his journal, "About 4 P.M. the border of the almost precipitous descent into the Cañon de los Frijoles was reached, and it took one-half hour to descend—on foot, of course. The grandest thing I ever saw." Bandelier did not make the journey alone but was guided here by a man from Cochiti Pueblo, Juan José Montoya. He and Montoya had spent time exploring the Pajarito Plateau together.

The site of Tyuonyi and the setting of Frijoles Canyon made such an impression on Bandelier that he used them for the location of a novel begun three years later that he titled "The Delight Makers". Based on what Bandelier learned in his time at Cochiti Pueblo, the book is a work of fiction, but one he intended to be based on scientific facts and to convey to readers information on the archaeology, geology, and ethnography of the region. He also hoped it would dispel the romantic image of Indians in contemporary literature such as James Fenimore Cooper's "The Last of the Mohicans". "The Delight Makers" is still in print to this day.

On February 11 1916, the long-fought efforts of Edgar Lee Hewett to protect the critical archeological resources of the Pajarito Plateau finally bore fruit with the establishment of a National Monument. Bandelier, who had died in 1914, was an inspiration to Hewett. He was honored by the new park being named after him.

#Bandelier #BandelierNationalMonument #FindYourPark #EncuentraTuParque #AdolfBandelier

2:55 youtube.com

2020 Kevin Locke Performance - The Hoop Dance Oct 24, 2020

www.nytimes.com > arts > dance Kevin Locke, Who Worked to Preserve Lakota Culture, Dies at 68

Oct 09, 2022 · Kevin Edward Locke was born on June 23, 1954, on the Standing Rock Reservation in South Dakota and was a member of the Hunkpapa community of the Lakota of the Standing Rock Sioux Tribe.

South Dakota Public Broadcasting posted a video to playlist Wish You Were Here.

On Friday, South Dakota lost one of our greats. Kevin Locke, Ȥokéya Inážiŋ, ("The First to Arise") was a preeminent player of the Native American flute, a traditional storyteller, cultural ambassador, recording artist and educator. He was one of the first artists to join the South Dakota Arts Council's fledgling touring artists program, and in addition to touring nationally and internationally, he visited every corner of our state over the last 40 years.

He was perhaps best-known for his hoop dance, The Hoop of Life, but more than an Internationally renowned hoop dancer, more than a leading reviver of the classical Native flute, Locke's calling was to share a message of unity to the world. As he taught: When brought together in love, the various "hoops" that make up the peoples of the world create a "hoop of many hoops...There are no corners, no dark place, no back row...we are all there, shoulder to shoulder...we can not be excluded..."

As one friend wrote in memoriam, "We are honored by his honorable life." He was a great man, and his light will continue to shine in the lives he touched, the teachings he passed down, and the kindness, joy, and love he brought to all he did.

-Eliza Blue, Host and Producer of SDPB's Wish You Were Here.

Kevin shared this beautiful story with us on an episode of Wish You Were Here last season.

0:35 / 6:15

In Loving Memory Of
Rosaline H. Shaw

October 17, 1932-October 8, 2022

Family Viewing:

Friday, October 14, 2022

5:00 PM MST

Rosaline Shaw's Residence

Funeral Services:

Saturday, October 15, 2022

1:00 PM MST

Human Development Center

Burial:

Old Cemetery

Food donations will be greatly appreciated. Feeding will take place at Rosie's residence after the services.

With apologies.....just received Friday 10.21 (Somone else had technical probs!)

Carolyn Harry

It really sucks knowing those spontaneous calls that bring lots of laughs aren't coming anymore. Frank has been a brother to us since what 1979? 80? A daily fixture at the house. Sooo many miles of ropings and rodeos for decades..and all of them crazy adventures with the one and only Frank Romo. Our entire family will miss him. He became Uncle Frank to all of our nieces and nephews, then grandpa Frank. Another nephew in law/outlaw that would always show up on Aunty Ona and moms. My mom said.. I sure miss those Romo boys coming thru the door. Ha. Frank said one time in his usual Frank voice .."aw man. Your mom is sooo sweet. Mann, She's the sauce on spaghetti. ". Lol much love and prayers sent to Grandma Verna, our niece Keri Romo, Loni Romo, brothers Johnny and Mike and all of Franks family and friends. "Oh for corn flakes.." -Heaven gained one of the best headers around.. "This is Jake Barnes"

