Don't EVER let someone tell you (including yourself) that you are just something.....everyone has a gift, a purpose, a place to contribute.

'Just a Nurse'.

I am just home from a busy shift, looking very ordinary in my scrubs. On the way home today I stopped at the shop for milk and saw an acquaintance. She has never seen me in uniform and said that she didn't realise I was 'just a nurse'. Wow! Over my 18 year career I have heard this phrase many, many time, but today it got to me. Am I just a nurse?

I have helped babies into the world, many of whom needed assistance to take their first breath, and yet I am just a nurse.

I have held patients hands and ensured their dignity while they take their last breath, and yet I am just a nurse.

I have counselled grieving parents after the loss of a child, and yet I am just a nurse.

I have performed CPR on patients and brought them back to life, and yet I am just a nurse.

I am the medical officers eyes, ears and hands with the ability to assess, treat and manage your illness, and yet I am just a nurse.

I can auscultate every lung field on a newborn and assess which field may have a decreased air entry, and yet I am just a nurse.

I can educate patients, carers, and junior nurses, and yet I am just a nurse.

I am my patients advocate in a health system that does not always put my patients best interest first, and yet I am just a nurse.

I will miss Christmas Days, my children's birthdays, and school musicals to come to work to care for your loved one, and yet I am just a nurse.

I can take blood, cannulate and suture a wound, and yet I am just a nurse.

I can manage a cardiac arrest in a newborn, a child or an adult, and yet I am just a nurse.

I can tell you the dosage of adrenaline or amiodarone based on weight that your child may need to bring them back to life, and yet I am just a nurse.

I have the experience and knowledge that has saved people's lives.

So, if I am just a nurse, then I am ridiculously proud to be one!

Ancestral Guard is a nonprofit organization in California that teaches fishing and farming methods to indigenous youth. Sammy Gensaw became involved in community organizing to remove four hydroelectric dams from the Klamath River in 2008, when he was 14. Three years later, he and his younger brother Jon Luke Gensaw began teaching local children traditional Yurok techniques for catching and cooking salmon from the river, calling the project the Ancestral Guard. The Ancestral Guard is directed by Sammy Gensaw and was incorporated as a nonprofit organization in 2015. Indigenous Climate Action (ICA) is an Indigenous-led organization guided by a diverse group of Indigenous knowledge keepers, water protectors and land defenders from communities and regions across the country. We believe that Indigenous Peoples' rights and knowledge systems are critical to developing solutions to the climate crisis and achieving climate justice.

ICA works on connecting and supporting Indigenous communities to reinforce our place as leaders driving climate change solutions for today and tomorrow. We model our work and organizational structure on systems of free, prior and informed consent and self-determination. By providing communities with knowledge and resources, we can inspire a new generation of Indigenous climate leaders building solutions centered around our inherent rights and cultures.

Indigenous Climate Action was founded in 2015 by Alberta Indigenous women who saw a need to bring Indigenous Peoples together to begin discussions on climate change and Indigenous rights. Following these initial conversations, the first Indigenous Climate Action: Indigenous Peoples' Meeting on Climate Change was held in January 2016 in the heart of Treaty No. 6, Amiskwaciwâskahikan (Edmonton). This meeting set the stage for Indigenous Climate Action by inviting Indigenous leaders from across so-called Canada. A year later, many of these Indigenous climate justice leaders would become members of ICA's first volunteer National Steering Committee.

On November 13th, 2023, the Department of Labor announced the establishment of Youth Apprenticeship Week (YAW). Building off the success of National Apprenticeship Week, Youth Apprenticeship Week is a nationwide celebration that highlights the benefits and value of Registered Apprenticeship opportunities for youth and young adults ages 16–24. This year YAW will take place May 5-11, 2024. We look forward to celebrating the inaugural Youth Apprenticeship Week with you!

Employers, educators, labor unions, workforce professionals, State agencies, and other partners across the country are launching Registered Apprenticeship programs that allow youth to earn competitive wages while obtaining the relevant training and experience to start their jumpstart their careers, often including the ability to earn college credit. YAW is an opportunity for these stakeholders and others to host events across the country to bring awareness of these life-changing Registered Apprenticeship career opportunities to youth and highlight how they create a sustainable pipeline of skilled and diverse talent for the jobs of today and tomorrow for critical industries.

During YAW 2024, the U.S. Department of Labor will highlight the following key themes:

- Monday: “Parents and Guardians are a Priority” in Registered Apprenticeship
- Tuesday: Youth Apprenticeships: Building Awareness, Myth Busting, Partnering with Educational Providers, and Creating Pathways through Pre-Apprenticeship.
- Wednesday: Expanding Youth Apprenticeship Opportunities for Underserved Populations
- Thursday: National Youth Apprenticeship Signing Day
- Friday: Federal Partners Day and Call to Action

With your support, we have the opportunity to make this first YAW a huge success. Our goal is to have 100 YAW events and proclamations across the country in all states and territories. To reach that goal, we are asking for your help by:

1. Sharing the attached Promotional Mailer with your staff, partners, and other stakeholders across your state, encouraging them to host and participate in YAW events.
1. Encouraging your staff and partners to visit the Youth Apprenticeship Week website and review the resources that are available.
1. Add all youth apprenticeship-related events or activities during that week, or that month, to the website.
1. Search for events by industry, event type, location, population, and other keywords.
1. Host an event and/or participate in events happening in your area and encourage partners and stakeholders to do the same.
1. Submitting a YAW proclamation using the proclamation templates on the YAW website and encouraging partners to do the same.
1. Encouraging staff, partners to attend the YAW webinar on March 6th at 3 pm EST to learn more about Youth Apprenticeship Week; and
1. Encouraging partners and stakeholders to promote YAW on social media, using #YAW2024 and #ApprenticeshipUSA.

For more information, please see the YAW website: Youth Apprenticeship Week | Apprenticeship.gov. If you have any questions, please email DOL’s Office of Apprenticeship at YouthApprenticeshipWeek@dol.gov.

Who we are:

The State Water Resources Control Board and the nine Regional Water Quality Control Boards (collectively the Water Boards) work to preserve, enhance, and restore the quality of California's water resources and drinking water for the protection of the environment, public health, and all beneficial uses, and to ensure proper water resource allocation and efficient use, for the benefit of present and future generations.

The Office of Public Participation ensures Water Boards decision-making processes involve the public and uplift the voices of environmental justice communities and California Native American tribes. The Office also coordinates the Boards tribal affairs program, works to foster positive government-to-government relationships, and offers support to region and division Tribal Coordinators.

The Water Boards values diversity, equity, and inclusion throughout the organization. We foster an environment where employees from a variety of backgrounds, cultures, and personal experiences are welcomed and can thrive. We believe the diversity of our employees is essential to inspiring innovative solutions. Join the Water Boards to improve the lives of all Californians.

The purpose of the Kress Interpretive Fellowships at Art Museums program is to provide a new kind of mentored professional development opportunity within American art museums. The program is intended to encourage students to explore interpretive careers in art museums, whether as future museum educators or curators; to strengthen the profession of museum educator within the art museum community; to strengthen ties between museum educators and curators in the shared task of interpretive programming in art museums; and to expand the range of promising career options available to students of art history and related fields. Kress Interpretive Fellowships provide competitive grants to American art museums which sponsor supervised internships in art museum education. Preference is given to institutional applications that will provide fellows with an opportunity to collaborate closely with both art museum educators and curators, and will advance the appreciation of European art history of the pre-modern era. All applicants will be required to upload the following: an IRS determination letter of 501(c)3 status for the organization that will receive and administer the funds; and a curriculum vitae of the Fellowship mentor or supervisor.
